Doctors to report on Nixon

Haldeman became the second of the five defendants to take the witness stand with the trial still waiting for a report from court-appointed doctors on whether former President Nixon is well enough to testify.

A spokesman for Dr. Charles Hufnagel, chairman of the three-man panel which examined Nixon and his medical records in California on Monday, said the report would be delivered to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica before noon.

Haldeman began testifying after former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell completed his defense case with 20 minutes of cross examination by an attorney for one of the other defendants.

Haldeman described his role on the Nixon White House staff as having "the basic responsibility for the planning and implementation of the President's daily activites... my time was scheduled solely on the basis of the demands of the President's time."

He described himself as "the one person who was totally available to the President day or night" with the responsibility to "get done whatever he wanted done or find out whatever he wanted to find out."

Then he described where various White House aides worked in relation to the President's Oval Office.

Located closest to the President's office was Alexander P. Butterfield, said Haldeman. Next was the office of Rose Mary Woods, Nixon's personal secretary, and next to her office was Haldeman's.

Haldeman, Mitchell, former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman, former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee, are charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Parkinson's lawyer drew from Mitchell testimony that the former attorney general had never met Parkinson before July 13, 1972, when Parkinson was brought in to defend the re-election committee against a civil suit by the Democratic National Committee. Mitchell said he told Parkinson the re-election committee had no involvement in the Watergate break-in.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The court-appointed panel of doctors that examined former President Nixon earlier this week told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today that Nixon is not presently able to travel to Washington to testify in the Watergate cover-up trial.

HIT BY DISCRIMINATION — Joyce Arkhurst plays the piano at her home in New York City. The American Cancer Society says Mrs. Arkhurst's failure to get a job as associate information officer for a United Nations project is an example of discrimination against former cancer patients. She had breast cancer surgery last April and her doctor says he considers her cured.

Water company proposal eyed

Council continues to ponder gloomy financial situation

BY MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Editor

Washington C. H. City Council members continued to grapple with the city's gloomy financial condition during its regular semi-monthly meeting in the City Office Building.

The meeting opened 12 minutes late as City Council members huddled behind closed doors with representatives of the Ohio Water Service Co., apparently to discuss a proposed new rate increase.

Following the sound defeat of the proposed 1.25 per cent income tax issue at the polls earlier this month, Council members have been attempting to solve the financial crisis in the city government operation, and a public airing of the difficulties looms as a possibility.

Councilman Donald E. Wood, with the support of fellow Council members Ralph Cook and Mrs. Bertha McCullough, suggested a public meeting be scheduled to review the city's gloomy financial and possible remedies.

One of the remedies discussed briefly was a one half per cent income tax being imposed before Jan. 1.

HOWEVER, City Council chairman John E. Rhoads said, "There's no point in deciding an additional finances until the proposed budget is reviewed more thoroughly."

Earlier in the meeting Rhoads had said the city "is not broke, just badly bent." The city legislators again discussed that the city has been ignoring its obligations by not paying the principal amounts of its notes during 1974 and that bills are being withheld from payment as another money-saving measure.

Representatives of the Ohio Water Service Co., met with Council members in a closed unannounced session Wednesday apparently to review a proposed rate increase. The proposed rate increase first surfaced last March.

Water company officials said the utility firm has been hampered by escalating prices since its last rate increase nearly 15 years ago.

The company, in a prepared statement issued to news media personnel immediately following the closed session, said since the last rate hike construction costs have increased 118 per cent; the investment per customer has increased 48 per cent; ther amount of water facilities has increased 84 per cent; operation and maintenance expenses have risen 78 per cent; the gallons of water sold have increased 56 per cent, but operating income has decreased 17 per cent; interest rates have increased from 4.5 to 6 per cent, and the Consumer Price Index has risen 43 per cent.

Six-week search ends

Marcum selected for Chamber post

Bruce Galloway, president of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, has announced the selection of John Marcum, Rt. 1, Greenfield, to fill the position of executive vice president, left vacant since the resignation of James Dunn in October.

The 28-year-old Marcum was chosen over eight other applicants and inquiries from all over the country for the position. Galloway said that "after approximately six weeks of reviewing applications and interviewing applicants, the Chamber felt Marcum's background and capabilities expressed during the interview sessions would enable him to fill the job adequately."

Galloway said in the selection of an executive vice president, the Chamber of Commerce looked at the applicants' background, education and ability to react and innovate under stress in an interview situation, by discussing theoretical problems which may come up on the job.

Marcum said the executive vice president "basically runs the Chamber under the direction of the board of directors."

Ford slates China visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford plans to visit mainland China next year in a move to accelerate U.S. relations with the mainland and to balance Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev's trip to Washington next June.

An announcement of the presidential visit, giving no specific date or reason, was given in a joint communique issued today in Washington and Peking as Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's completed a five-day trip to China.

U.S. officials traveling with Kissinger said they expected the trip would take place late in 1975. It was also understood that the Chinese took the initiative in arranging the visit.

Ford will be following the footsteps of former President Richard Nixon, whose 1972 visit marked the end of a quarter century of estrangement and produced the Shanghai communique setting guidelines for developing normal relations between the two nations.

The communique today said that "U.S. and Chinese sides held frank, wide-ranging and mutually frank talks" during Kissinger's visit. It added: "They reaffirmed their unchanged committments to the principles of the Shanghai communique."

Otherwise, Kissinger's visit produced no evident major advance in improving relations, although an agreement appeared to be near on compensation to Americans whose property was seized after the Chinese revolution.

"I look forward to visiting the People's Republic of China sometime next year and to continuing the process of normalizing our relations," Ford said in a written statement.

Ford sets grid attendance after Thanksgiving reunion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford travels to Philadelphia Saturday to watch the annual football game between Army and Navy, two teams he could sympathize with even if he weren't commander-in-chief.

Both teams have records of three wins and seven defeats. But even that is better than Michigan's record of only one victory during Ford's senior year there.

In addition, the President will be fresh from a nostalgic reunion on Thanksgiving Day with his former high school football teammates.

One member of the 1930 South High School team in Grand Rapids, Mich., Silas McGee of San Francisco, called the White House gathering "the high point of my life."

McGee, who played end and halfback, called the President "Junie," as the team members posed with a football, laughing and joking in front of the team banner. A seven-man Marine band combo played the team's fight song.

"Can you still catch one," Ford, the center on the team and later at the University of Michigan, called to McGee.

Retired longshoreman McGee clowned with the ball and jokingly told reporters, "Junie's following me. That's the way he always gave me interference — he always followed me."

The Army-Navy game will be the first contest Ford has attended this year although he says he loves to watch both the colleges and the pros on television, often while reading official papers.

Although he has been described as an All American, Ford has acknowledged that the myth of his prowess grows bigger with each passing year.

After starring on the high school team, he was a benchwarmer on two good Michigan teams in 1932 and 1933 but was a starter on what he describes as a bad 1934 club, one riddled by graduation.

After the season, Ford was named "most valuable" and his abilities as a center and linebacker won him an invitation to play in the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco on Jan. 1, 1935.

His 58-minute performance on offense and defense earned him several bids to play professional football.

"Pro ball did not have the allure it has now," Ford told Jerry ter Horst in his biography, "Gerry Ford and the future of the Presidency."

"Though my interest was piqued at the time. I didn't lose any sleep over the offers."

Instead of turning pro, for $200 a game for a 14-game season, Ford went to Yale, where he later attended law school.

Prison official faces discipline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State Corrections Chief Bennett Cooper says departmental disciplinary action could be taken against an associate superintendent of the Lucasville penitentiary because of his conviction for nonpayment of child support.

Cooper said the action against Rowland R. Lutz, 49, of Lucasville, could range from a reprimand to "dismissal."

Lutz was sentenced to 60 days in the Franklin County Workhouse Wednesday for failing to pay more than $1,600 in child support for his illegitimate infant son. The sentence was handed down by Domestic Relations Judge Donald Breckenridge.

Lutz earns $17,514 a year as head of the penitentiary's treatment services.

Marriage racket growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal authorities are worried about a booming racket in marriages purchased by poor aliens from those who prey upon their dreams of life in the United States.

Fraudulent marriage rackets are popping up with increasing frequency in the big cities harboring thousands of aliens who come to this country illegally and live in daily fear of deportation.

Officials of the Immigration and Naturalization Service say they have stepped up their investigations of the practice.

The scheme typically involves a racketeer scenting easy prey in the alien desperate to remain in the United States but understanding little of its language and less about its laws.

These aliens usually were lured here by the promise of jobs and high wages to send nome to their improverished families. Others may have come to study at universities, then lingered beyond the time allowed by their student visas.

Whatever their motives, they form the pool of potential victims or sometimes knowing conspirators in the marriage scheme.

The racketeer and the alien need one other party to complete the fraud: a U.S. citizen or legal resident alien willing to marry for money or at least go through the motions of a wedding ceremony.

Wedded to an American citizen or permanent legal immigrant, an alien almost automatically gains official permission to remain in the United States no matter how he got here.

William Wood, a criminal investigator for the Immigration Service, said some fraudulent marriages appear to be real because the spouses live together for a time. But investigators become suspicious when the alien spouse wins legal resident status, then quickly files for divorce.

The organized marriage racket, however, often relies on a few American citizens who carry out multiple "marriages" with the aid of false identification papers, Wood said in an interview.

Marriage brokers charge an alien anywhere from $250 to $1,500 to arrange the wedding, he added.

"Fraudulent marriage is one of the popular, growing and expensive schemes to flout the immigration laws," INS Commissioner Leonard F. Chapman said in a recent speech.

"Organized marriage rings are being uncovered monthly," he continued. "We recently discovered in Miami a woman and her two daughters who had petitioned for entry into this country for 13 alien 'husbands,' all from Haiti.

"The mother has eight marriages that we know of, one daughter has three and the other has two — all without benefit of divorce."

He said the Americans who agree to marry aliens often are victims themselves.

"Many are persons of low income, especially women who perhaps have children to support," he related.

Lakewood widow wins $300,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 75-year-old widow from suburban Lakewood carried off the $300,000 top prize in the Ohio lottery Buckeye 300 drawing today.

Mrs. Harriet D. Bryan said she plans to put some of the money in the bank, because "I may need it one of these days.

I don't want to go to the home."

Rudy A. Obst, 44, of Springfield Township near Toledo, and Thomas H. McDonald, 73, of Canton, each won $15,000 prizes.

There were only three contestants for this week's Buckeye 300.

Israeli soldiers slay 5 guerrillas

By The Associated Press

Israel said its soldiers killed five Arab guerrilla infiltrators early today in a firefight on the border with Lebanon.

The reported clash occurred a few hours before the United Nations Security Council was to meet in New York on the Middle East. The meeting is specifically to vote on whether to extend for six months the mandate placing a peacekeeping observer force on the Golan Heights between Israeli and Syrian troops. The initial six-month mandate expires Saturday night.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said an Israeli patrol engaged the guerrillas as they tried to slip through a security fence near Mt. Dov, overlooking southeastern Lebanon. No Israeli casualties were reported.

The spokesman said rifles, bazookas and sabotage equipment were found with the slain invaders.

There was no immediate comment from Lebanese defense officials or Palestinian guerrilla spokesmen in Lebanon.

On the eve of the Security Council session, Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim returned to New York from a five-day swing through Israel, Jordan and Egypt. He described the region's political climate as improved but added that great barriers remain before peace talks can be reopened.

Syria reportedly had objections to keeping the U.N. troops in place, but these were smoothed over at the last minute. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger reported Syria's acquiescence during his visit to Peking, and Waldheim confirmed it after meeting with Syrian leaders.

Waldheim estimated the cost of the buffer force for the next six months at $7.6 million. It now has 1,224 soldiers from Austria, Peru, Canada and Poland plus a headquarters staff and military observers.

Israelis today marked the 27th anniversary of the U.N. vote on Nov. 29, 1947, that divided biblical Palestine into a state for the Jews and one for the Palestinians. A split among small states swung the vote in Israel's favor, and the proposal passed 33-13 with 10 abstentions. In those early days of the United Nations, the Third World countries now dominating the General Assembly were not members.

The Arabs rejected the 1947 decision and invaded areas already settled by 650,000 Jews. It was the first of four ArabIsraeli wars and ended with the Jews holding large chunks of land originally earmarked for Palestine.

Nitze disappointed in atom arms pact

"The real problem we face is the imminent deployment of a new family of Soviet missiles," Nitze said in an interview. "I don't see that the new pact reduces that problem appreciably."

He also said he had hoped for a lower ceiling on missiles that can carry multiple independently targetable warheads (MIRVs) than the 1,200 to 1,300 reportedly allowed on each side under the new agreement.

Nitze, who played a key role in negotiations leading to the first SALT agreement in 1972, resigned abruptly last June, saying the Watergate scandal made it impossible for the Nixon administration to achieve a successful long-term pact that would enhance U.S. security.

He said at the time that, until the effectiveness of the presidency was restored, "I see no real prospect for reversing certain unfortunate trends in the evolving situation" surrounding the then-deadlocked talks on SALT II.

Asked for his opinion of the new agreement worked out during Ford's meeting with Soviet Communist chief Leonid I. Brezhnev in Vladivostok, Nitze said, "I am disappointed."

Nitze made it clear he is concerned because the agreement leaves the Russians free to deploy big new missiles with several times the "throw weight," or lifting power, of U.S. missiles.

With this major "throw weight" superiority, critics say, the Russians may be able to mount enough powerful and accurate MIRV warheads by the early 1980s to threaten U.S. land-based missiles in their launch silos, even with the agreed ceiling on the number of missiles that can launch them.

As a result of the new agreement's failure to curb Russia's big new multiple warhead missiles, Nitze said, "There is much we will need to do" to assure the survivability of the U.S. land-based missile force.

"We certainly should consider a land-mobile missile," Nitze said.

A mobile missile system, which would be costly, would be extremely difficult for an enemy to destroy in a surprise attack, unlike missiles which sit in fixed silos.

streets, for the past two years and is presently president of the Washington C.H. Jaycees.

He also worked in production planning for six years with National Cash Register Co., and with the loan department of the Chemical Bank and Trust Co., Charleston, W. Va., before moving to Washington C.H.

A graduate of South Charleston High School in 1964, Marcum attended Concord College in Athens, W. Va., where he studied accounting and business management. He has held several offices during his five years with the Washington C.H. Jaycees as director, past secretary and past treasurer and is currently serving his fourth year on the board of directors.

He and his wife, Jackie, are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Washington C.H. They have three children and reside at 4511 Miami Trace Road.

Although Marcum will take office Jan. 1 in the middle of a term, he said he felt his experience with the Jaycees in working cooperatively with the Chamber of Commerce on various projects such as the recent Christmas parade, will aid him in fulfilling the fulltime capacity as executive vice president.

Ford plans executive clemency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford arranged today to sign his first grants of executive clemency, and perhaps some unconditional pardons, of convicted military deserters and draft evaders.

The Presidential Clemency Board earlier this week recommended an undisclosed number of cases for action by Ford, a board spokeswoman said. Board chairman Charles E. Goodell had said last week that 62 cases were being examined.

All 62 men had been furloughed from federal prisons or military stockades while seeking clemency.

The White House signing ceremony early this afternoon was to be followed by a news briefing by Goodell, and individual summaries of the cases recommended to Ford were to be released, the spokeswoman said.

The board is empowered to recommend executive clemency, including commutation of sentence and either unconditional pardon or pardon conditioned on alternative civilian service.

Stock list drifts lower

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.13 at 616.16, and losers outnumbered gainers by about 5 to 3 in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that many investors were taking a four-day Thanksgiving holiday.

Safeway Stores, the Big Board volume leader, lost ¾ to 36. The company said it was studying a switch to last-in first-out accounting for its inventories, a step which the company estimated would reduce reported 1974 earnings by $1.25 a share.

Kissinger ends talks with Chinese

PEKING (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, on his way home from Peking without seeing Chairman Mao, made no major breakthrough during this trip to the Chinese capital.

But he said Thursday night in a parting toast the Americans and their hosts had "deepened our common understanding.... We committed ourselves to continuing the process of normalization."

The secretary of state; his wife Nancy; and his two children by a previous marriage, Elizabeth, 15, and David, 13, flew from Peking to Soochow, an ancient garden city, early today. They were sightseeing in Soochow today and planned to fly to Tokyo tonight.

Kissinger met twice on Thursday with China's vice premier, Teng Hsiao-ping, but no details on the talks were disclosed. A communique on Kissinger's five-day visit was expected today or Saturday.

In his banquet toast to Kissinger, Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua said their exchanges were held "in a candid spirit." Kissinger replied that "the process of improving relations with the People's Republic is a fixed principle of American foreign policy."

The Taiwan issue remains a major unsettled point between Washington and Peking. U.S. officials said both sides were simply waiting for developments on Taiwan, and neither side is pushing for a fast resolution.

China wants the United States to break off its ties with Chaing Kai-shek's Nationalist China regime on Taiwan.

Mao Tse-tung invited Kissinger to personal meetings during both of the American's visits to China last year.

Snow may spread into the southern two-thirds of Ohio tonight and Saturday, while snow flurries are forecast for northern counties.

Quite a bit of cloudiness appeared over the state during the night, but only traces of snow were reported in the northeast.

Highs today were forecast to range from the low 30s to low 40s. Lows tonight will range from the teens to low 30s and highs Saturday should show little change from those today.

Cold with a chance of snow flurries, mainly north, Sunday and Monday. Cloudy Tuesday. Highs from the upper 20s to mid 30s Sunday and Monday, warming to from the upper 30s to mid 40s Tuesday. Lows 15 to 25.

Ircel Knedler joins Federal Land Bank

Ircel Knedler Jr., Staunton-Sugar Grove Road, is now associated with the Federal Land Bank Association in Washington C.H., according to Ronald D. Ratliff, manager.

The 39-year-old Knedler will be assisting Ratliff and field assistant Glenn Whittington in working with long-term real estate loans in Madison, Fayette and Clinton counties.

Born in Fayette County, Knedler is a graduate of Fairfield High School in Leesburg, where he was active in the 4-H and Future Farmers of America programs and received State Farm and American Farmer degrees. He was engaged in farming until 1962 when he moved to Florida and served five years as assistant field chemist with the U.S. Sugar Corp., Clewiston, Fla., and beginning in 1968 he served nearly seven years in farm management with Opekasit, Inc., of London.

IRCEL KNEDLER

The Knedlers have resided on Staunton-Sugar Grove Road for nearly three years and presently he farms the family farm on the Greenfield-Sabina Road. They are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Washington C.H.

Knedler and his wife, Jana, have three daughters, Karmel, 17, Kindra, 12, and Kimberly, 3.

Ex-siamese twins out of hospital

PHILADELPHIA — Altagracia and Clara Rodriguez, Siamese twins until they were separated in a rare operation two months ago, have been discharged from Children's Hospital.

"May God bless this country and its people," said Mrs. Salvador Rodriguez, their mother. The twins had been born Aug. 12, 1973 in the Dominican Republic.

Mrs. Rodriguez was told the girls would die but Mrs. Joseph Zimnoch of Harrington, Pa., got her church to raise funds to bring them here for surgery.

A 23-member medical team performed the 6½ hour operation in September.

Salary proposal on board slate

The Washington C. H. Board of Education will meet Monday night to consider a raise in the salary schedule for school employes.

The board is expected to approve a raise in the neighborhood of five per cent for all school personnel excluding full-time administrators. The new salary schedule is to become effective immediately.

The board will also consider the purchase of two textbooks for Washington Senior High School and a request for approval of a college course for one of the faculty members.

Meeting slated

The regular meeting of the Fayette County chapter of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, December 5 in the Landmark feed plant, Old Chillicothe Road.

All OCSEA members are invited to attend.

Three youths charged with station burglary

Three Fayette County juveniles have been arrested by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and charged with the alleged breaking and entering of the Ashland Oil service station at the intersection of U.S. 35 and Camp Grove Road, which occurred sometime last Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies reported the trio, a 15-year-old girl and two boys, ages 15 and 16, have been charged with probation violation. The girl has been released to her parents, while the youths are still incarcerated in the Fayette County juvenile detention facility.

The service station was entered by forcing the front door and seven packs of cigarettes, 15 ink pens, a woman's watch, some food from the refrigerator, seven quarts of oil, four pairs of sunglasses, a flashlight and a hunting coat were taken.

The solen items were valued around $60.

Officers check suicide attempt

A Washington C.H. woman attempted to committ suicide through an overdose on Thanksgiving Day, the Washington C.H. Police Department reported and Fayette County Sheriff's Deputies investigated the theft of a hunting dog and an incident of sugar stealing.

A 19-year-old Washington C.H. woman took 16 Sominex tablets and two diet pills the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day in a suicide attempt, prompted by personal problems, police reported.

The woman later decided not to go through with the attempt and petitioned a neighbor to take her to Fayette Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

A $200 Spaniel hunting dog with orange and white coloring, belonging to Rollin L. Emerson, of Cincinnati, was stolen in the vicinity of the railroad tracks along Whiteoak Road around 10 a.m. Thursday. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating the grand larceny.

Three sugar containers valued at $6, were stolen from the Days Inn Motel at the intersection of I-71 and U.S. 35, at 2:25 p.m. Wednesday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Opinion And Comment

Death penalty review

The law with regard to capital punishment has been in a state of some confusion since the Supreme Court handed down a ruling on the subject in 1972. This arises from the court's failure to deal unequivocally with the central issue. Instead it ruled in essence that death penalty laws as then administered by the states were unconstitutional because they were unequally applied.

Since then a number of states have revised their statutes to the exent of making the death penalty mandatory under some circumstances. This has not, however, cured the unequal treatment problem. For various reasons, notably the discretionary powers of governors and prosecutors, even mandatory death penalty laws may be unequally applied.

In light of all this it is heartening that the Supreme Court has now agreed to take up the matter again. In reviewing a North Carolina case involving a murder in a dice game argument, the court is expected to go deeper and perhaps rule on the basic question whether the death penalty is unconstitutional under any circumstances. It will be good to have a broader decision on this troubling subject.

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

The zoos as the animals' best friend

With human beings starving to death in much of Africa and Asia and facing economic or political distress practically everywhere else, I suppose it is a tribute to the human heart that people still have time to concern themselves with the beasts of the field and the fowl of the air. So, when hundreds of animal lovers converge on the Central Park Zoo in New York City to protest the caging of monkeys and polar bears, when Cleveland Amory writes a book, "Man Kind?", that is as anti-zoo as the Israelis are anti-Yasir Arafat, one can empathize with the pro-animal partisans.

Maybe the protesters are right about the Central Park Zoo. Since the Park itself has become a paradise for muggers, it is quite conceivable that its general atmosphere of fear has dried up the milk of human kindness in some of the zoo keepers.

Out in the broad hinterlands of the republic there are zoo authorities who consider the occasional existence of a bad zoo to be their worst enemy. And, since the season for protest is here, they vigorously object to being judged by the alleged bad behavior of any big city zoo on the U.S. northeastern seaboard.

Thus we have Ronald Blakely of Wichita, Kansas, president of the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums who has spent 27 years with animals, arguing that the good zoo, in a time when the natural habitats of wildlife are being progressively destroyed everywhere, should be considered a prime ally of animal lovers who have been responsible for such legislation as the Marine Mammal Act and the Endangered Species Act. Along with William Braker of the Shedd Aquarium in Chicago, who is the past AAZPA president, and Robert Wagner, the director of the Jackson, Miss., Zoological Park, Blakely thinks the zoo, like Noah's Ark of old, is destined to be the savior of hosts of species that otherwise would fall victim to the encroachments of civilization on the jungles and open ranges of the world.

There are at least 20 organizations in Washington, D.C., that are trying to force Congress to phase out zoos in the U.S., or at least support the Dingley bill for federalizing the zoos.

Their hearts are in the right place, but their heads do not know how to reckon with realities. The fact is that in an inflationary period there is very little Federal money available for zoos; the Office of Endangered Species is woefully underbudgeted and understaffed.

The animal lovers mean well but, in their indiscriminate warfare on all the zoos, the good as well as the bad, they are taking a course that may very well condemn the Bengal tiger and the South African cheetah to extinction.

Consider the dolphin, for example. The tuna fishing fleets of the world have slaughtered some 200,000 dolphins a year by the sheer inadvertence of strangling them in fishing gear. The U.S. is trying to do something about this, but it is giving the tuna fishermen two years of grace (or disgrace?) to find a way of catching tunas without hurting other marine life. Then there is the job of trying to persuade foreign governments to be as humanitarian as the U.S. government hopes to by by 1977.

Meanwhile, it is practically impossible for an American aquarium to acquire a dolphin here and now in 1974 for show purposes. Since the capture of a dolphin for an aquarium might save his life from the tuna fishermen, the aquarium owners, who are perfectly willing to give a dolphin plenty of water in which to disport himself, wonder why the Department of Commerce and the Department of the Interior should interpose such mountains of red tape between the decision to buy a dolphin and the actual delivery of this most intelligent of sea creatures.

Zoos would be satisfied with just enough cheetahs, leopards, jaguars and ocelots to establish breeding banks. The great cats of the world will reproduce themselves in captivity, which need not be onerous under modern conditions.

In 1968-69 a total of 3,168 cheetahs, 17,490 leopards, 23,347 jaguars and 262,032 ocelots were killed for the fur trade. The end of such killing is not in sight; the economic interests of too many countries are involved. Yet American zoos now have their government-made troubles in getting show cats for the sanctuaries they are offering the endangered felines of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Mr. Blakely, who keeps insisting that the bad zoo is his worst enemy, doesn't mind Cleveland Amory's desire to protect the animals. But he argues that Amory doesn't actually have the ghost of an idea of what goes on in an animal's mind.

Animals, says Mr. Blakely, do not have guilty consciences. Some animals — the elephant is one — like human company; others, notably the giraffe, do not. The trick is to respect their prejudices in the sort of sanctuary that is extended to them.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Even though your day may be crowded, don't overlook details through haste. Seemingly minor factors could be most important to the overall picture of a successful day.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Everyday matters will probably run their routine course, but evening brings a surprise invitation from some highly amusing companions.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Others often criticize you for being overly emotional, of "thinking with your heart," but your "feelings" about a current situation will be right on target.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Personal relationships highly congenial. Others can be won around to your way of thinking easily and willingly.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Job matters may prove more strenuous than usual, but some delightful news from an old friend will make your day.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Curb emotions and do not let sympathy for one cause blind you to the attributes of another. Take care of undertakings in order, but without anxiety.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mixed influences. Your efforts may not show immediate returns. They will, however, strengthen your current status. Stress accuracy, precision.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

There may be more than one way to achieve your goal, so keep eyes and ears open. Generally speaking, the strong and decisive try will pay off.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

As the week draws to a close, prepare to revive depleted energies, dwindling resources. Rekindle an optimistic outlook toward the future.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You usually like to solve your own problems, but don't arbitrarily reject another's idea. It may be more practical than your own.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Mixed influences. Be prompt to reject unethical, or even slightly questionable schemes. Too much is at stake; too much can get out of hand.

YOU BORN TODAY, a Scorpio-Sagittarian cuspal (born at the change of Signs), are endowed with some of the most powerful characteristics to be found in the entire roster of zodiacal natives. You are, innately, a leader; are capable, extremely enterprising, versatile and have a flair for the dramatic and unusual. You could succeed in many areas but, notably, as a business executive, scientist, jurist, statesman or, along creative lines, as a writer, journalist or musician. Your integrity is outstanding and anyone entrusting his affairs to your hands is lucky indeed.

Bad economic news plentiful

NEW YORK (AP) — At the very time American corporations are making their commitments for 1975 the economic news seems to have taken a turn for the worse, reinforcing the need of pessimists, eroding that of optimists.

One result, says Walter Headley, economists and vice president of the Bank of America, is that industry is cutting expectations even more, not in "meat ax" style perhaps, "but they're rounding down."

The bad news seems plentiful as the autumn leaves.

Wholesale prices rose at an annual rate of nearly 28 per cent in October, and that means consumer price increases for many weeks ahead. The coal miners are on strike. Auto makers are cutting production and laying off workers.

If the coal strike continues it will mean steel production will be cut. If the auto makers can't sell their cars then the glass and rubber industries, among others, will be hurt. All are very basic industries.

Industrial production continues to drop even without these events and expectations. It fell 0.6 per cent in October, the steepest since February. Unemployment is almost certain to reach 7 per cent by early 1975.

The dismal record of the past haunts the present and clouds the future. The third quarter inflation rate has just been revised to 11.8 per cent from 11.5.

Housing continues in a slump. Consumers are said by pollsters to be cutting their spending plans. First National City Bank, which recently joined the consumer pollsters, found only six of 100 people nationwide felt the economy would improve within the next six months.

Albert Sindlinger of Sindlinger & Co., which polls consumers by telephone seven days a week, and has been doing so for well over a decade, found "confidence over the past weekend was like an iceberg melting."

Abroad, the U.S. dollar continues to slump as speculators move into West German marks, partly because that country stated it wouldn't mind if the mark floated higher in relation to some currencies, including the dollar.

The world worries about being able to recycle the dollars accumulating in the Mideast. "People here are drenched by gloom and doom from West Europe about the problem of recycling dollars," said Headley. "In Western Europe they just won't listen to optimism."

Those investors who hoped the stock market had found the bottom it has sought so earnestly are learning that the bottom must have many tiers, and they don't appreciate the pun.

The Mideast political and military situation doesn't seem to improve. Food prices continue to rise.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She might not settle for peanuts

DEAR ABBY: As a lawyer, may I comment on the dilemma of the divorcee who didn't know what to say when a man asked for sex outside of marriage?

She should give him a calm, lawyer-like answer; he is asking her to trust him with her body. She is running the risk of an unwanted pregnancy. What is HE risking?

Shouldn't the risk be equal? Why doesn't he give her $1,000 in cash to put into her savings account, and at the end of nine months, if there is no unwanted baby, she can cheerfully return his $1,000.

If she does become pregnant, she can use the money for an abortion, or partial support of the child. In that way, he at least risks something. It is clearly unfair to ask a girl to have sex, and should something go wrong, all the risk be hers.

While the risk can never be made truly equal. The deposit of $1,000 to her account before sex would make it a little more equal.

I wonder how many men who would ask a girl to risk her body are willing to risk some of their money?

J.M.S.: PLANDOME, N.Y.

DEAR J.M.S.: If your proposition is truly "lawyer-like," the legal profession is in trouble. The girl's unlawyer-like response could be: "If your really want to monkey around, I'm not settling for peanuts!"

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old fellow who has always liked older women. (I mean women about 45 or 50. I really groove on gray hair, and a woman with middle-age spread.)

I could never get turned on by girls my own age, and I have tried. Do you think there's something wrong with me?

When I was 17, I became very much attracted to one of my high school teachers (she was about 40) and she told me I should have a long talk with the school psychologist, but I never did.

I've heard of men marrying women 20 years older than themselves, and I can't see where there is anything terribly wrong with that.

Please tell me if you think I have a problem, and if I have, how serious is it? Thanks.

Don't tell me I am searching for my mother, because she died when I was a baby and you can't miss what you've never had.

LIKES THEM OLDER

DEAR LIKES: Yup. You have a problem. Your high school teacher gave you some good advice. You need professional help, and I suggest you get it. (P.S. And who said you can't miss what you've never had? It's possible to miss that the most.)

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago, I married a handsome, trim man with whom I'd been in love for three years. The first four years of our married life was wonderful. The last two have been something else.

He started to gain weight, and kept piling it on until now he looks like a barrel of lard. When I try to tell him it's unhealthy and unsightly, he gets angry and refuses to listen. He is so gross it makes me sick to look at him. I no longer want him to make love to me. He's repulsive.

Three weeks ago, I gave him a ultimatum. Either lose 50 pounds in the next six months, or I'm leaving. Apparently he didn't take me seriously because he's still drinking and eating like a herd of horses.

I'm not asking for advice. I want to go on record in your column, and I'll see that he reads it.

MEANS BUSINESS

DEAR MEANS: You're on record, but if you really love him, you'll help him. An ultimatum is no help. He needs a physical examination, a good diet program, and lots of love and moral support from you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANNAMARIE: One woman's leftovers can be another woman's banquet. Now is the time to talk turkey.

Today In History

Today is Friday, Nov. 29, the 333rd day of 1974. There are 32 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the monarchy was abolished in Yugoslavia.

On this date:

In 1760, the French surrendered Detroit to the British at the end of the French and Indian War.

In 1825, the first Italian opera presented in the United States, Rossini's "Barber of Seville," was performed in New York.

In 1899, the United States, Switzerland and France recognized the Republic of Brazil.

In 1922, archaeologists announced they had found fabulous treasure in the tomb of King Tutankhamen in Egypt.

In 1929, U.S. Navy Lt. Commander Richard Byrd radioed that he had made the first flight over the South Pole.

Ten years ago: Several hundred thousand Chinese demonstrated in Peking against American involvement in the Congo, calling it aggression.

Five years ago: Communist forces in South Vietnam eased up a four-week offensive in which nearly 400 South Vietnamese and 70 Americans were killed.

JOHN HALL

REV. MEL DIBBLE

Program planned

Noted speakers slated to lead Life Crusade

Evangelist Mel Dibble and singer John Hall will be leading the New Life Crusade with the First Baptist Church, 301 E. East St., Dec. 1-8, according to the Rev. Ralph F. Wolford, pastor.

Rev. Dibble is an outstanding musician and a theological graduate of Wheaton College and the seminary in Chicago. For several years he and his wife were involved in singing evangelism.

In 1950, he became involved in radio and television and was a star on the NBC-TV Network programs "Straw Hat Matinee" and "Breakfast Party."

During the period when Rev. Dibble was associated with NBC, he became acquainted with the Rev. Billy Graham and rededicated his life to Christ. On the early morning talk show, he announced he was leaving television to return to preaching. Rev. Dibble was associated with Rev. Graham for the New York City Crusade, in which he was in charge of the radio and television programs and was master of ceremonies for the telecast, "Impact."

During the week of Dec. 1-8, Rev. Dibble will be available for counseling and sharing his faith in Christ with small groups. Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. nightly.

Accompanying Rev. Dibble will be tenor soloist, composer and recording artist John Hall, who will direct the services' music program and will lead in the youth activities during the week.

Hall, 23, is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan, School of Music, and has graduate work to his credit. He has served on the voice faculty at Olivet College, Olivet, Mich., and has performed in professional opera with the "giants" of the Metropolitan. He has recently been requested to accompany the famed composer, John W. Peterson, as a featured soloist in concert tours throughout the United States.

The New Life Crusade will include, besides the nightly services, a Youth Dessert Supper, Sunday at 5:30 p.m.; a noon Women's Luncheon, Wednesday at 12 noon; a Men's Pancake Supper, Thursday at 6 p.m.; and special "Youth Scenes" Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 9 p.m. The public is invited.

Outsiders now church insiders

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — By a quirk of modern history, some struggling outsiders who received some highly controversial help from the world's churches now are becoming the established insiders.

That is the ironic turn-about of the coming into governing power of the black liberation movements in three African colonies long ruled by Portugal.

Recent events have "moved quickly to vindicate" the churches' efforts, says the Rev. Dr. John Coventry Smith, of Larchmont, N.Y., a United Presbyterian leader and one of the six-member presidium of the World Council of Churches.

It was that council, embracing 263 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches, which four years ago launched its program to combat racism, including grants for basic foods and medicines for the beleaguered liberation groups.

Program planned

A special pre-Christmas program will be held Sunday at 7 p.m. at the First Christian Church, 232 N. North St.

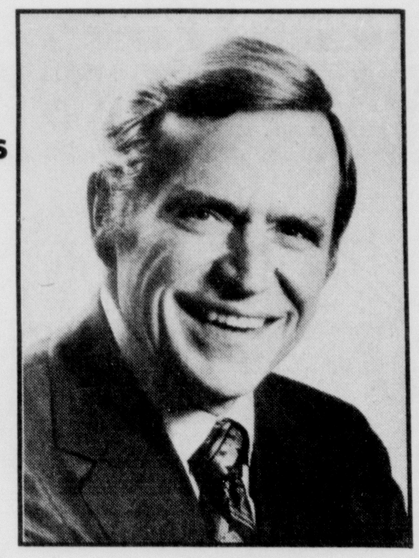

An auditorium Christmas tree will be decorated with Chrismons, which are monograms and symbols from Christian history referring to the life of Jesus Christ.

All the Chrismons were hand-made by the women of the church. Special music has been planned for the program. Refreshments will be served following the service and the public is invited to attend, according to the Rev. Don Baker.

Former NBC TV Star
A few years ago Mel Dibble had his own radio and TV programs in the mid-west. He was the star of "Straw Hat Matinee" and then "Breakfast Party." Then he met Billy Graham & rededicated his life to Christ. Mel became an evangelist on the Billy Graham team and was in charge of television for the New York Crusade. When you hear this famous and magnetic personality talk of his call from Christ and the message Christ has for all who do not know Him, you'll feel the Crusade was something you wouldn't have missed for the world. Bring a friend who needs the message of salvation.

Class officers are named

The Young Adult Class of the New Holland United Methodist Church held its November meeting in the church basement. A potluck supper was enjoyed by 12 members and their children.

Mrs. Gary Kirkpatrick called the meeting to order with the reading, "Thanksgiving Prayer" and listed a few of the things which people take for granted, for which one should be thankful.

Mrs. Lynda Conrad read minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. Joyce Conrad gave a report of the annual turkey and ham supper and the sale of homemade noodles. It was also announced that reservations for the Lancaster Retreat in February have been confirmed.

Members of the class wishing to make Christmons are to meet Dec. 3 in the home of Mrs. Harold Thompson.

Candy Cane Charity Ball is planned

The 11th annual Candy Cane Charity Ball, sponsored by the Women's Service Board of Grant Hospital, Columbus, will be held Dec. 14 in the Presidential Ballroom at the Neil House. Cocktails are at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 8 p.m., with dancing to follow. Tables for eight are available and all proceeds go to Coronary Care Unit and Intensive Care Unit Telementry, updating care of heart patients. Each telementry costs approximately $7,000 and the hospital needs eight. Costs for the party is $50 per couple and patron tickets $75 a couple. Contributions are gratefully accepted if persons cannot attend.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Frederick W. Eider Jr., 710 Havens Corner Rd., Gahanna. Telephone information number is 476-0748. The theme for the ball is "Diamond Jubilee" since this is the eve of the 7th year (1900-1975). Pink and silver are the colors. There will be a Gallery of Mementoes from the 75 years featuring items all sizes from the hospital history. The Johnny McCoy orchestra will play and Earl March will play for the cocktail hour. Sonya from the Neil House will play piano from midnight until 1 a.m.

"NIGHT OF THE LIVING DEAD" — ORGY OF THE LIVING DEAD? A TRIPLE MALADROIT OF GRISLY HORROR! ALL IN COLOR! — "BRIDES OF BLOOD"

Class names new officers

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smith were hosts for the meeting held at the church, and Mrs. Blair conducted the meeting by leading The Lord's Prayer. Devotions, presented by Mrs. Morgan, included Scriptures and readings pertaining to Thanksgiving. Mrs. Frederick gave the closing prayer.

Reports were heard and Mrs. Milbourne Flee reported for the nominating committee.

The Dec. 19 meeting will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marchant.

'Blue Jacket' DAR topic by Mrs. Rankin

The Daughters of the American Revolution Martha Washington Committee on Indian Affairs was held Monday evening in the home of Miss Helen Slavens.

Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, chairman, led the pledge of Allegiance and conducted the meeting. Reports were read and various projects discussed. It was announced by the chairman that two boxes of clothing had been sent, one each to the Kate Duncan Smith and Tamassee Mountain Schools.

Mrs. Cornwell introduced the speaker, Mrs. Richard Rankin, who gave a very interesting talk on "Blue Jacket, War Chief of the Shawnees."

Christmas gifts were brought to the meeting by the members to be sent to the Chiloco Indian School children.

Refreshments were served by Miss Slavens who was assisted by Mrs. William Lovell, Mrs. John Sager Sr. and Mrs. Byron Hinton.

OH TOPS 1265 announce new officers

TOPS OH Chaper 1265 was organized in early April, and the present officers are: Mrs. Jim Wilson, leader; Mrs. Allen O. McClung, co-leader; Mrs. Russell Liston, secretary; Mrs. Robert W. Fries, treasurer; and weight recorder, Mrs. Forest Williams.

Meetings are held each Monday evening at 7 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce office, with weigh-ins beginning at 6:30 p.m. Anyone desiring to lose weight sensibly is invited to attend the meetings, or become a member.

Division winners for November are Mrs. Roy Yahn and Mrs. Williams. Best loser for the month is Mrs. Kathleen Beatty and pre-teen princess Janie Maxie.

Benjamin Franklin is topic of Progress Club

Mrs. John Sheeley, president of the Progress Club, opened the meeting held in the home of Mrs. Russell Hall, with the poem, "Thanksgiving Mince Pie." Miss Helen Fults, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll, for the 14 present. Each answered by giving one of Benjamin Franklin's famous sayings.

Benjamin Franklin had many famous quotes, and was the topic of Mrs. Grace Lanum's report for the evening. Her report was taken from Thomas Fleming's book, "The Man Who Dared the Lightning" - a new look at Mr. Franklin.

When Franklin began his experiments, electricity was a curiosity in the world of science. Experimenters created 'electrical fire' by rubbing glass tubes with silk, then they stored the accumulated charges in Leyden jars.

In a series of classic experiments Franklin transformed electricity from a curiosity to a full-fledged branch of science. He discovered the existence of plus and minus charges and invented such terms as battery conductors and condenser.

These were but a few of his many accomplishments. At the age of 42, he had made enough money from his newspaper, The Pennsylvania Gazette, and from Poor Richard's Almanac, to retire from business and devote himself to science.

The meeting was closed with a poem very appropriate for the season, "Be Thankful." A dessert course was served during the social hour to the 14 members and Mrs. Eugene Avey, a welcomed guest.

DAR schedules Mrs. Wheat

'Religious education' is the topic Mrs. Gerald Wheat has chosen for the meeting of the Washington C.H. chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, when members meet in the home of Mrs. Ronald Cornwell on Monday, Dec. 2. Delegates to State and Continental Congress will be elected.

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Sidney Bloomer, Mrs. Laurence Garringer, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. Roger Rapp, Mrs. Lowell Miller, Mrs. Irvin Yeoman, Mrs. J.A. McCoy, Mrs. Vivian Crawford, Mrs. John Leland and Mrs. Virtus Kruse.

OH TOPS 669 plans party

OH TOPS 669 met in the Williamson Electric building and Mrs. Dale Dunn welcomed members and gave an interesting program on Dr. Soloman's Easy No Risk Diet.

The 'best loser of the week' was Mrs. Daniel Willis; 'star' of the week and officer was Mrs. Dunn. Division winners announced were Mrs. Homer Chaney, Mrs. James Williams and Mrs. Dunn. Mrs. Williams was also best monthly winner.

All were reminded of the Christmas party and gift exchange Dec. 17, at Jefferson Inn. All former members are cordially invited to attend and husbands may also attend.

When planning to have several holiday parties over a short period, such as a weekend, don't forget to explain this to your florist. He can give you tips on how to keep your floral arrangements looking bright and fresh for days, including watering techniques and storage temperatures for various types of flowers.

Surprising, what a little planning can do for a food bill. For example, include cold cuts and skinless franks — those meats too often typecast as "lunch" meats — in evening meals. Sausage products have no bone or fat to trim and little shrinkage so they provide more servings per pound than fresh meat. Use them in interesting ways, such as a salami quiche or a frankfurter minestrone. The family will never guess you're budgeting.

'Open house' planned in Pitzer home

'Open house' is planned from 2 until 4 p.m. Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pitzer, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, for their 25th wedding anniversary.

Open house will be held in the Pitzer home, with their children as hosts. They are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stout of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Johnson of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wilson of Springfield, and Douglas and Pamela at home.

All of their family and friends are cordially invited.

Piano pupils present Musicale

Piano pupils of Mrs. Frank Creamer, Washington-Waterloo Rd., entertained their parents and guests at an informal Musicale, Sunday afternoon. Participating in the program were: Mark Ford who played "Bike Hike" and "He"; Michelle Ford - "Skip To My Lou" and "The Harpsichord Player," Bach; Jennifer Slutz - "The Cuckoo" and "The Stepping Stones"; Peter Ford - "Playing Catch" and "A Fairy Ring"; Joe Carroll - "Journey By Train", and "On The Lagoon"; Wendy Hidy - "The Elf and The Fairy" and "Chimes Through The Mist"; Kari Clay - "Tarantella", a duet arrangement with Mrs. Creamer assisting; and a vocal trio consisting of Marilyn Creamer, Kari Clay, and Linda Hollingsworth who accompanied themselves on guitars. Their vocal number was "They'll Know We Are Christians By Our Love".

Guests presnt were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Slutz and sons Randy and Scot, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carroll and children, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hidy, Mrs. Jane Shoop, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Clay and daughter Kendra.

Punch and cookies were served from the dining table, which was covered with a yellow linen cloth. Crystal appointments and a large deep gold candle with fall flowers encircling it, completed the setting.

PERSONALS

Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Daugherty and family, 4922 St. Rt. 753SE, were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Fawcett and son Bradley of Richmond, Ind., and their son, Roger, who is also a weekend guest, from Pittsburgh, Pa.

New meat labeling program is pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government label watchers say consumers may be confused by "Danish Brand Ham" since they might believe the meat was imported from Denmark, but they think everybody knows "Moon Sausage" really does not come from outer space.

The Agriculture Department, therefore, wants to clarify what it calls "geographic labeling" of meat and poultry products. So under a proposed change in regulations now under study any product called "Danish Brand Ham" would be mislabeled unless it came from Denmark.

"Fanciful names, such as 'Moon Sausage,' would be permitted since the place of origin would not normally be confusing to the consumer," the department says.

A spokesman for the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, which is considering the tighter label requirements, said there was no record of "Moon Sausage" and that the term was dreamed up as an illustration.

"You could say the same about 'Mars Meatloaf' or 'Satellite Salami' since those also are fanciful," the spokesman said. "As far as I know no astronaut has gone into business up there yet."

Another label which would be banned under the proposal — open for public comment until Feb. 7 — would be "German Sausage" unless the product came from Germany.

Some country-name exceptions would be permitted, however, if "the geographical term is generally understood to identify a particular class or style of product, such as 'Mexican style' or 'Italian style'," the department said.

Also, there are some familiar products which are classified by geographical names under existing federal regulations, including "Bologna" and "Vienna" sausages. Officials say people know what those mean.

The familiar "Virginia ham" already is protected by federal regulation requiring a product so labeled to be actually produced in Virginia.

Holiday traffic deaths mount

The nation's Thanksgiving weekend traffic death toll reached 132 today.

Motorists were slowed by scattered snow from the southern Rockies to the Great Lakes region and upper Ohio Valley.

The National Safety Council estimated that from 525 to 625 persons might die in traffic accidents during the 78-hour period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday, local time.

Wittenberg professor raps Ford policy

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)— It's foohardy to try to combat runaway inflation and stagnating recession jointly, a Wittenberg University economics professor says, because the traditional remedies for one can only inflame the other.

The way out, according to Robert P. Schultz, is to concentrate on inflation, with everyone, from the federal government on down, accepting "a smaller slice of the pie."

Slice the peak off the price spiral, Schultz says, and the recession will take care of itself.

"Inflation is responsible for the downturn we are in," Schultz said.

"Sooner or later we have to get back to reality," he said. "Everybody has got to consume less of the wordly goods, but nobody wants to."

As demand rises, so do prices, but it's a condition that cannot continue forever, with unemployment being inevitable.

"We all have to take a smaller share of a smaller pie, including the government," Schultz said in an interview. "If the government isn't willing to use up less, it will spill off into more inflation."

Schultz said the economy's woes began two years ago, a result of "a confluence of a lot of things at the same time." A major factor was disastrous weather conditions.

"There were large cattle losses in the west and the beef shortage began to shape up at that time," he said.

"In the spring there were excessive rains that washed out crops and wiped out animals. In the spring of this year, along with the beginnings of the drought, there was heavy frost. And who could have predicted the situation in the Middle East would develop as it did?"

"Prices would have stayed up even if everything else stayed neutral," Schultz said. "Add government spending and it just goes through the roof."

Detectives eye Earl's accounts

LONDON (AP) — Detectives hunting for the Earl of Lucan, who is wanted for murder, have been granted permission by a magistrate to examine his bank accounts.

Lord Lucan, 39, disappeared three weeks ago shortly before the body of his children's nanny, Mrs. Sandra Rivett, was found trussed in a canvas bag at his wife's home. He is also sought for the attempted murder of his wife.

Detective Chief Superintendent Roy Ranson said he was not interested in the Earl's financial holdings.

Business news

Lafayette Inn formally opened

Ribbon cutting ceremonies marked the beginning of the grand opening of the Lafayette Inn, CCC Highway-W, Friday morning.

Jack Marti, 512 Columbus Ave., who purchased the restaurant-bar Oct. 21, plans special grand opening activities Friday night. Two bands will be performing and two stereo units will be given away as door prizes.

Marti said the restaurant will open at 4 p.m. daily and dinners will be served from 5:30 to 11 p.m. weekdays and until midnight on the weekends. A new menu, including a number of flaming gourmet dishes, will be available for the first time during the grand opening.

Having briefly owned a tavern after his discharge from the service, the 44-year-old owner is eager to see the operation get into full swing.

He said he enjoys fine foods and will attempt to emphasize the restaurant portion of the business.

He and his wife, Rachel, have five children.

Elaborate Christmas display poses problem for police

BATH, Ohio (AP) — Much to the chagrin of local authorities, Dr. Dean Jones plans to resume his elaborate Christmas light display this year, saying he's doing it "strictly for the children."

The Akron dentist says he will erect the $20,000 display despite official protests that the city cannot afford to police the staggering traffic jam it creates.

Jones, who canceled last year's display because of the energy crisis, said he would shut down the display this season only if the coal miners' strike directly threatened Ohio Edison's ability to serve it customers.

"Halloween has been cut out, and unless someone tries to hold the line, five years from now everything else for children will be cut out, too," he said.

Jones has decided to light the display only four hours a day for 19 days instead of seven hours a day for 42 days, but officials of the Akron suburb say that isn't good enough.

"Even if you have 50 men down there and the road is still blocked, how would we ever get a fire truck or emergency vehicle in there?" asked Police Chief Robert Ferguson.

A newspaper story about the 48-year-old dentist's struggle with the authorities brought an overwhelming public response to Jones' Akron office.

"There were 50-60 calls the first day, all supporting the doctor," a receptionist said. "If anyone wants him to cancel the display this year, they didn't call here."

The light show is a 20-year-old dream come true for Jones. While going to dental school, he lived on a farm and added a string of Christmas lights to the family decorations each year. He vowed when he became a doctor he would not skimp on holiday spirit.

Four years ago he wove his first design out of chicken wire strung from the house to the swimming pool and from tree to tree over the acre-and-a-half lot. Across the wire he looped lines of tiny red, blue, yellow and green bulbs.

TVA bid for coal firm rapped

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A proposal by the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) to purchase the giant Peabody Coal Co. is generating heated reaction in Kentucky, Tennessee and Washington, D.C.

"This proposal is without precedent," says Kentucky Sen. Walter (Dee) Huddleston, in discussing the possibility of TVA, the nation's largest generator of electric power, purchasing the nation's largest private coal company.

"It's opening a lot of doors," says Huddleston. "I want it checked out ... all the ramifications of it, although I am not suggesting any wrongdoing."

Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton adds, "The prospect of TVA winding up with Peabody scares the heck out of me."

And Tennessee Sen. Howard Baker says the proposal "must not be treated routining," adding that he will ask for a congressional inquiry.

Also, Congressman-elect Carroll Hubbard, who will represent Kentucky's 1st Congressional District — the largest TVA market in the state — says he will look into the proposal as soon as he is "in a position to do so."

Not all reaction to the proposal has been skeptical.

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, Republican from the 5th District in Kentucky, said he supports the proposal. TVA supplies some of Carter's district with power and owns 40,200 acres of coal lands in the district.

Former U. S. Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee, now chairman of the board of Island Creek Coal Co., Lexington, said that his perspective regarding the proposal is complex.

He noted that in 20 years a congressman and senator from Tennessee he championed TVA and that he has never found fault ideologically with the TVA concept.

But now he heads a company that is TVA's biggest coal supplier (not counting TVA-owned coal mined by Peabody). And TVA is Island Creek's largest customer.

Gore said his first responsibility is to his stockholders.

"But I could not say that Island Creek opposes or will oppose this proposal. We will likely take no position at all.," he said.

This year Peabody will mine more than 70 million tons of coal in the 12 states in which it operates. It also has mining interests in Australia.

In Kentucky in 1973, Peabody mined 24,753,458 tons of coal and had a payroll of $46,099,525. It paid Kentucky taxes of $3,617,301. It has 11 mines in Western Kentucky and none in Eastern Kentucky.

In Indiana Peabody's tonnage last year was 12,316,135 and 1,151 employes were paid $16,409,768. The figures were provided by the company's main office in St. Louis.

In making his first formal statement on the proposed purchase last week, TVA Board Chairman Aubrey (Red) Wagner said that " problems of both supply and price in the present market" were causing TVA to propose the deal, reportedly in the billion-dollar range.

AIRPORT NEWS

By SANDY WOODMANSEE

Traffic in these past few weeks have been several helicopters, one from Aerial Patrols Co., Canton. Howard Searcy, pilot, a Lear Jet from Indianapolis picked up freight, and a twin Beech from Millardair, Toronto, Canada made a safe emergency landing here last week after developing engine trouble. A twin Navajo Chieftan followed them in from Canada the next day to continue their flight.

Earl Webb, who is an accomplished aerobatic pilot, stopped in his Decathlon and gave John a ride showing him how to do loops, barrel rolls and snap rolls.

Mike Putnam received his Private Pilot's license and Art Beverly soloed on Nov. 6. Approximately sixteen pilots and friends enjoyed an evening of bowling at Bowland a couple of weeks ago.

Jack Patton is home for Thanksgiving and stopped in to say hi. Nice to see him again. He told us he has been accepted in his school's (St. Louis University) flying team and will be participating in the National Inter-Collegiate Flying Assoc. meets to be held at Santa Fe, New Mexico in the middle of April. That should be great fun and good for you, Jack!

ADMINISTRATRIX SALE
3 WASHINGTON C.H. PROPERTIES
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1974

SELL ON PREMISES 12:00 NOON; 12:30 P.M.; 1:00 P.M.

TRACT I: Located at 703 Broadway, Washington C. H., Ohio, with 88½' frontage and 125' depth in lot size.

This one floor plan, six room residence should be given a bit of study for an investment or home of your own. Forced air gas furnace. Full bath. Garage. Fenced in yard. Remember, there isn't too many for sale on Broadway for less than $10,000. Maybe you could use this as a starter. Appraised at $9,300 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

TRACT II: Located at 831 John Street, Washington C. H., Ohio, with 41¼' frontage and 112' in depth in lot size. At the corner of Flint Drive.

Such a one floor plan, frame residence as this, could be for the do-it-yourself people interested in an investment or home of their own property. Five rooms with full bath and gas floor furnace, is the basic arrangement inside, all of which needs revamping, in the way of decorating throughout. No garage. Appraised at $6,500 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

TRACT III: Located at 310 McElwain, in Washington C. H., Ohio, with 41¼' frontage and 140.85' in depth in lot size.

This five room, one floor plan, residence does have much to offer, especially in this location with the trees and garage (12'x18') on this handy size lot. Partial basement with furnace (not in working condition). Roof appears to be good, but does have small leak here and there. The 110 electric may need an inspection. The bathroom. . . .well, it needs some improvements. Appraised at $5,000 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

INSPECTION: Call selling agents, phone 335-2210.
POSSESSION: On passing of deed.
TERMS: 10 per cent down day of sale, and balance of purchase price upon delivery of deed, within 30 days for each tract.

Variety of charges aired in Muny Court

A Washington C.H. man was fined and sentenced on a charge of driving while intoxicated by acting Judge Omar Schwart and five persons were charged by state game protector Jerry F. Cremeans in Municipal Court Wednesday.

Judge Schwart fined Herman E. Payton, 23, of 217 East St., $200, sentenced him to three days in jail and suspended his driver's license for 30 days after he pleaded guilty to the DWI charge. He was fined $15 on an additional charge of failure to yield while making a left turn.

Anthony F. Casson, 21, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was fined $16 for speeding, Douglas C. Willis, 19, of 450 Rawlings St., was fined $20 on charges of possessing an expired driver's license and failure to stop for a stop sign, and Stephen L. Mustard, 20, Jeffersonville, forfeited $20 bond on a charge of failure to stop for a stop sign in other traffic cases Wednesday.

A Mount Sterling man forfeited $59 bond on a charge of illegally spotlighting rabbits, filed by game protector Jerry Cremeans. Thomas W. Powell Jr., 34, forfeited the bond for failure to appear in court on the charge of illegally spotlighting rabbits on Ohio 38 and Myers Road.

Raleigh E. Robinson, 20, Columbus, forfeited $25 bond on a charge of discharging a firearm on Deer Creek wildlife area where such use is prohibited and Webb L. Tracy, 52, Columbus, forfeited $34 bond on a charge of littering in the same wildlife area.

Two Washington C.H. men pleaded guilty before acting Judge Schwart to charges of trapping without proper name tags on the traps. Ronald Hurless, 30, of C and W Trailer Park, was fined $16 and Charles R. Bellaw, 18, also of C and W Trailer Park, was ordered to pay court costs on the charge.

In one nontraffic case heard Wednesday, Judge Schwart dismissed a disorderly conduct charge filed on a private warrant against Timmy D. Penwell, 18, of 724½ E. Paint St.

Seven holiday mishaps probed

An accident in which two autos were severely damaged and a Washington C.H. girl injured, occurred Thanksgiving evening, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported. Washington C.H. police officers investigated six accidents and charged two drivers with traffic violations.

SHERIFF

Cars driven by Michael H. Mallow, 16, of 1342 Dayton Ave., and Robert G. Osborne, 19, of 819 Lakeview Ave., collided at 6:45 p.m. Thursday, on Hutchinson-Yeoman Road, six-tenths of a mile south of the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road intersection.

Osborne's passenger, Debra S. Osborne, 18, of 819 Lakeview Ave., claimed injury from the mishap and was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where she was x-rayed for possible back and abdominal injuries and released.

Sheriff's deputies stated the mishap occurred when Mallow suddenly came upon Osborne's car, which was stopped over a hill without lights because he was having engine trouble.

Mallow hit his brakes, but only one caught, throwing his auto out of control and causing it to strike Osborne's car in the rear, knocking it into a ditch. Mallow's car also came to rest in the roadside ditch after traveling 54 feet beyond the point of impact. Neither driver was cited in the incident.

WEDNESDAY, 7:50 p.m. - Cars driven by Michale B. Maynard, 20, Westlake, and Beverly M. Goldschmidt, 20, Cincinnati, collided on I-71, one mile south of the Ohio 38 exit.

Damage to the Maynard auto was estimated as moderate and damage to the Goldschmidt auto was estimated as slight. No one was hurt or cited.

POLICE

THURSDAY, 10:30 a.m. - Cars driven by George D. Remy, 24, of 716½ Yeoman St., and Irene H. Wical, 25, of 206 W. Temple St., were involved in an accident when Remy pulled out of an alley onto S. North Street, in front of Ms. Wical's oncoming auto. He was charged with failure to yield right of way.

An auto belonging to Tim N. Hawk, 324 Gibbs Ave., was struck by an unidentified driver while parked on Gibbs Avenue near the Grace Street intersection, Thursday.

WEDNESDAY, 6:57 p.m. - The metal sliding door on a truck driven by Wayne D. Blankenship, 33, Ohio 729, fell and struck a car belonging to Daniel Exline parked in front of his 732 S. Fayette St. residence. The door struck Exline's tire and damaged his hubcap.

6:13 p.m. - A car driven by Paul B. Cummings, 55, of 1003 Washington Ave., backed into a car belonging to Linda S. Carmen, 21, Old Springfield Road, while it was parked at Robert's Drive-In, corner of E. Elm and S. Fayette streets. Damage was minor to both autos.

3:39 p.m. - Cars driven by Kathleen A. Merritt, 21, Sabina and Lawrence W. Moss, 66, of 628 Park Dr., were involved in an accident in the 1200 block of Willard Street, across from Washington Senior High School. Damage was moderate to the Merritt auto.

2:25 p.m. - Cars driven by Betty L. Dearth, 34, Ohio 41 and Clarabelle Rose, 47, of 1223 S. Hinde St., were involved in an accident in the 400 block of E. Court St. Ms. Dearth was cited by police for backing without safety.

B'burg PTO sets Christmas play

In the absence of Nina Luster, the treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Baker. She reported a balance of $2,203. Mrs. Baker suggested that the PTO, as in the past, distribute $25 to each teacher and classrooms and $150 toward playground equipment.

She announced that the Christmas play would be held during the next meeting, Dec. 16, at the school.

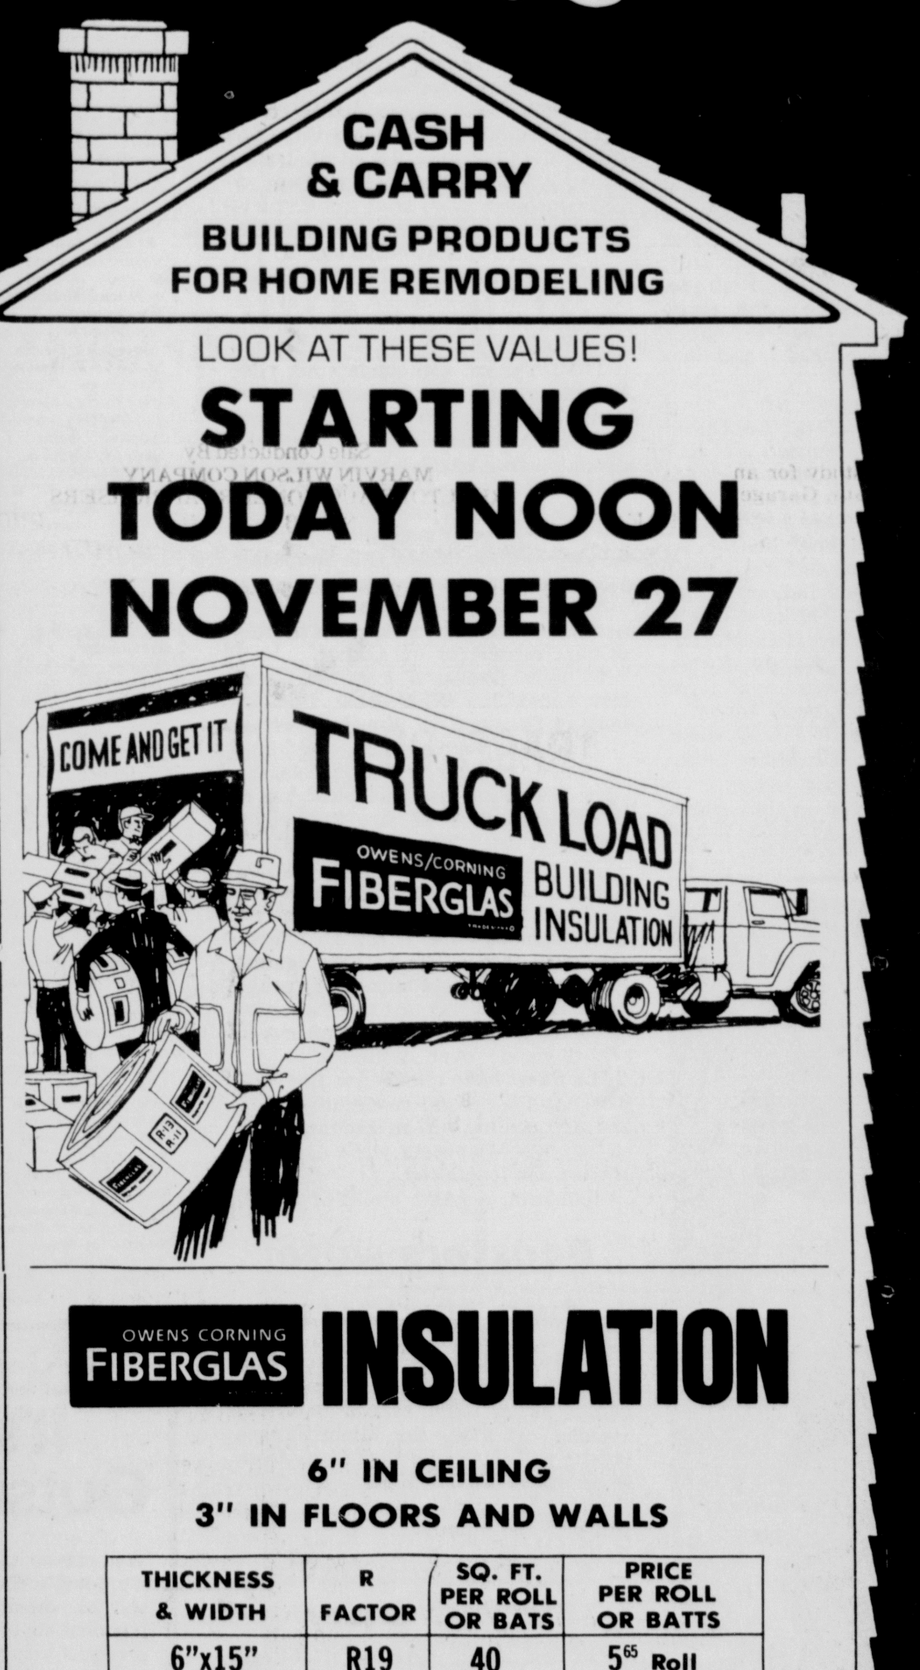

Suggestions were made for use of the carnival profits, including new stage curtains, carpet for principal Tom Levan's office, or a new mimeograph machine. A motion was also made to install coffee equipment for teachers in Levan's office. One other motion by Portia Cunningham suggested the PTO give tickets and financial aid for any future activities to students from the children's home.

Levan appealed for volunteers for a parents advisory committee to begin counseling with junior high students. He explained that at such a difficult age, junior high students would be able to receive help and advice with their special problems from the committee. He added that if the program succeeds, it may be expanded to encompass all levels of learning and expressed his beliefs that such a parents advisory committee would help to improve home and school relationships.

Tigers' Bowman selected first team

Central District team picked

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two men who guided their teams into the Ohio high school football playoffs are among the Ohio Central District Coaches of the Year.

Pete Corey, the area Class AAA Coach of the Year, produced an unbeaten regular season of 10 victories, leading the Golden Bears to their first playoff berth.

Upper Arlington defeated New Philadelphia 27-7 in the state semifinals, but took a 41-8 beating from Warren Harding in the championship game.

J.D. Graham, the Central District's top Class A mentor, directed Newark Catholic to a 9-1 regular season mark. The Green Wave also made the playoffs, bowing to state champion Middletown Fenwick 34-6 in the semifinals.

Shay produced an 8-1-1 season and Watterson's ninth Central Catholic League crown in 11 years. Orth led Mifflin to an 8-2-0 campaign and runnerup spot in the Columbus City League to Class AAA Walnut Ridge.

Dallas, Denver win Thanksgiving games

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Steelers, with the eager aid of the Miami Dolphins and reluctant assistance of the Houston Oilers, could start clearing up a confusing National Football League playoff situation Sunday.

They got no help, thank you, from Dallas on Thanksgiving Day.

Pittsburgh, 8-2-1, can clinch the American Conference Central Division with a victory over Houston, 5-6, if the Dolphins beat Cincinnati Monday night.

That set of circumstances wouldn't eliminate Cincinnati from a wild-card spot, but it would cancel any slim mathematical hope the Oilers have of gaining the playoffs.

In the second of two Turkey Day games, Dallas was 28 seconds away from mathematical elimination from the playoffs when Clint Longley, who had never run an NFL regular-season play before, threw 50 yards to Drew Pearson for a touchdown, beating Washington 24-23.

The Cowboys have been in the playoffs for the past eight years, and could gain an unprecedented ninth if the Redskins, 8-4, lose a few more and Dallas, 7-5, wins a few more.

In the earlier Thanksgiving game, the Denver Broncos, 6-5-1, beat Detroit, 6-6 and now eliminated from the playoffs, 31-27. Denver's Otis Armstrong ran for a touchdown and 144 yards in the game to surpass the 1,000-yard mark.

In Pittsburgh's last game, Terry Bradshaw and Franco Harris combined with the NFC's stingiest defense to lead the Steelers to a 28-7 victory over New Orleans. Bradshaw threw for two touchdowns, ran for another and tentatively has regained his starting position from Terry Hanratty. Harris, with 114 yards against the Saints, now has 762 for the season and is shooting for his second 1,000-yard plus season.

Dan Pastorini — if he can keep off his back after being sacked seven times last week by Dallas — could give the Steeler defense trouble.

In other Sunday games, Baltimore, 2-9, is at Buffalo, 8-3; Kansas City, 4-7, meets the Cardinals, 9-2, at St. Louis; New England, 7-4, plays in Oakland, 9-2; Los Angeles, 8-3, is at Atlanta, 2-9; New Orleans, 4-7, faces Minnesota, 7-4; Green Bay, 6-5, is at Philadelphia, 4-7; the New York Jets, 4-7, host San Diego, 3-8; the New York Giants, 2-9, travel to Chicago, 3-8, and San Francisco, 4-7, is at Cleveland, 3-8.

The Dolphins, confounded this year by occasional lapses in their defensive secondary, will have to hore up against Cincinnati if they hope to stop the precision passing of Ken Anderson.

The Bills are tied with the Dolphins for first in the AFC East, and would put the pressure on Miami with a victory Sunday. Buffalo, led by O.J. Simpson's 937 yards, is a two-touchdown favorite.

Bert Jones, sidelined since Nov. 3 with a shoulder injury, may get the nod at quarterback for the Colts.

With the Redskins' loss, the Cards can clinch the NFC East title by beating Kansas City. Jim Hart, whose 17 TD passes lead the NFC, could lead the Cards to their winningest season since 1960, while the Chiefs, who lost to Cincinnati last week, are assured of their first losing season since 1963.

Oakland had a nine-game winning streak broken last week by Denver and the Raiders need to regain momentum after clinching early in the AFC West. They will throw Ken Stabler against New England's Jim Plunket, who broke the interception jinx last week when he threw for 194 yards without a miscue in a 27-17 victory over Baltimore.

The Rams have clinched in the NFC West for the second consecutive year and are coming off an exciting 20-17 victory over Minnesota, while Atlanta's offense has foundered.

Minnesota, a game ahead of Green Bay in the NFC Central Divison, has lost its last two but could clinch if the Packers lose. Chuck Foreman has an NFL-leading 15 touchdowns this season, one away from the club record. The Saints' Archie Manning completed only two of 10 attempts for nine yards and three interceptions against Pittsburgh last week, and may yield to Bobby Scott for the Rams game.

The Packers have won their last three with a total of 73 points while giving up just 10, including a 34-0 shutout of the Chargers. Green Bay and Philadelphia both depend on former Ram quarterbacks — the Packers on John Hadl, the Eagles on Roman Gabriel.

Both New York teams have streaks going: the Jets have won three and the Giants have lost three.

The Jets go against a Charger team weak in offense, and Rich Caster will be a primary receiver for Namath, who found the tight end for two TDs last week.

Craig Morton has buoyed the offense of the Giants, who have been outscored by only nine total points in their past three games. Chicago finally got its first TD in 22 periods in a 34-17 loss to Detroit last week.

San Francisco quarterback Tom Owens is getting in the scoring habit, last week throwing to Gene Washington for two TDs in 27-0 victory over Atlanta, the 49ers second consecutive shutout. Cleveland quarterback Mike Phipps probably will start for Brian Sipe, who injured his hip last week in a 15-10 loss to Buffalo, the Browns' second straight.

Lions halt Pitt, 31-10

Penn State, ranked 10th, got the college football weekend off to an impressive start with a 31-10 rout of No. 18 Pitt Thanksgiving night.

Tom Shuman threw a pair of touchdown passes to Jim Easie and Chris Bahr added four field goals for the Nittany Lions.

This afternoon the excitement continued as Auburn faced the Alabama Crimson Tide, a second-ranked undefeated power hoping to complete its third perfect regular season in four years.

Auburn, 9-1, was given little chance of winning by the oddsmakers, who established Alabama, 10-0, a two-touchdown choice in the nationally televised encounter set for a 4:05 EST kickoff in Birmingham's Legion Field.

Today's schedule also included a Southwest Conference battle featuring No. 8 Texas A&M against No. 17 Texas in Austin. If the Aggies win, they will assure themselves of at least a share of the conference crown and a trip to the Cotton Bowl for the first time since 1967.

"This Auburn team is different than any I've ever had," says Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan of his seventh-ranked Tigers. "They're steady in the boat."

Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant says this may be "the best Auburn team we've ever played. They have more big capable athletes than any team in the (Southeastern) conference, maybe more than any team has ever had."

The SEC title is at stake. Auburn could tie for the title with a victory over the Tide, which has at least a share of its 13th conference title, including an unprecedented four straight.

Top-ranked Oklahoma, banned from a bowl appearance by the NCAA for recruiting violations, closes out its season Saturday at home against Oklahoma State, 6-4. The Sooners, 10-0, will be out to win impressively in order to secure their hold on the No. 1 ranking.

Indians best Shermans, 61-56

HILLSBORO — With all five starters fouling out, Unioto received a rude induction into the South Central Ohio League by dropping a 61-56 encounter at Hillsboro, Wednesday evening.

Tim Fuller and Mike Sharkey led the Indians' attack with 16 and 15 points, respectively. Greg Anderson topped the Shermans' scoring with 14.

Hillsboro held the Shermans' 6-foot-8 center Greg Alcorn, who was in foul trouble all evening, to just eight points. Kevin Bailey of the Indians, who was the leading scorer in the SCOL with a 20 point average last season, only collected five points.

Unioto will be hosting Southeastern on Saturday night. The Indians visit Leesburg next Tuesday.

Box score

UNIOTO (56) — Throckmorton (4-1-9); Kerns (2-2-6); Alcorn (3-2-8); Frey (3-3-9); Anderson (6-2-14); Rutherford (1-0-2); Johnson (3-0-6); and Matson (1-0-2); Total (23-10-56).

HILLSBORO (61) — Zink (2-5-9); Bailey (2-1-5); Seeling (2-4-8); Jewett (3-0-6); Sharkey (6-3-15); M. Fuller (1-0-2); and T. Fuller (6-4-16); Total (22-17-61).

SCORING BY QUARTERS:

Boosters slate two contests

Washington Basketball Boosters Club will be sponsoring two basketball games at the high school, Saturday evening. At 6:30, the Miami Trace faculty will clash with the faculty from Washington Court House. At 7:30, Washington varsity basketball team will play the alumni.

Steeler Sam Davis out with injury

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Steeler guard Sam Davis is not expected to play in Sunday's game here against the Houston Oilers, a team spokesman said..

Davis, who is offensive captain, sprained his left foot in Pittsburgh's 28-7 victory over New Orleans on Monday and has been unable to practice since.

Falcons, Hurons open Mid-American race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green, the preseason title choice, inches the Mid-American Conference basketball race at Eastern Michigan Saturday.

It's the earliest conference basketball game in history for the MAC, which has only five league contests during December. The Bowling Green-Eastern Michigan date is the lone November assignment.

Northern Illinois, a new member ineligible for the conference race, and Kent State get the jump on the rest of the 10-school league by playing tonight.

Other games Saturday have Ball State at Ohio State, Wabash at Miami of Ohio, Toledo at Michigan, Wisconsin-Green Bay at Western Michigan, Ohio University at Wisconsin and Steubenville at Kent State.

Bowling Green and Toledo, archrivals only 25 miles apart, are the conference championship favorites. The coaches tabbed Bowling Green and newsmen predicted Toledo would emerge as champion, replacing Ohio.

Bowling Green returns four regulars from its second-place team. However, 6-foot playmaker Jeff Montgomery is idled with a knee injury. Mark Cartwright, the starting 6-11½ center last season, has yielded his job to 6-7½ Andre Richardson.

"We'll try to run a lot more this year. I think we'll be better defensively, too," said Pat Haley, the Bowling Green coach.

Eastern Michigan enters the MAC basketball race for the first time with six newcomers, four of them transfers.

The Hurons' only regular from last season, 6-6 Talmadge Bell, likely will be on the bench against the Falcons.

Taylor hoping for bright year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State tries to rebound from its worst season in Coach Fred Taylor's 16 years, opening the current basketball campaign against visiting Ball State Saturday night.

The Buckeyes struggled to only nine victories in 24 games a year ago and Taylor said, "Aside from the record, it wasn't any fun either."

With six lettermen and three regulars returning, Taylor sees a brighter season this winter.

"We're a heckuva lot quicker, our ball handling is better and we're shooting more selectively," Taylor said.

"It's tough to believe this," added the Ohio State coach, "things have changed overnight. That's kind of exciting."

One holdover starter, 6-foot-7 forward Steve Wenner, likely will not play against Ball State, a new Mid-American Conference member.

The aggressive senior from Findlay, the Buckeyes' No. 1 rebounder last winter, sprained his wrist in practice this week and Taylor is leery to bring him back too soon.

In that case, 6-5 whirlwind junior Andy Stiegemeyer will pair at forward with 6-7 Bill Andreas, another 1973-74 regular. Craig Taylor, 6-10, much stronger with 23 additional pounds, will be in the pivot.

Larry Bolden, sensational as a freshman starter last year, has overcome an early practice illness and will open with 6-2 Terry Shields at guard.

Although his team was eighth in the conference a season ago, Taylor carries his usual optimistic air.

"We always think we can win the Big Ten. We will have to play up a storm to do it though," said Taylor, whose teams have won the conference title seven times.

Jim Holstein, a former University of Cincinnati star, begins his third season at Ball State without ace scorer Larry Bullington, among the national leaders with more than 25 points a game in 1973-74.

"We can't replace Bullington. We're not even going to try to," Holstein said.

The Cardinals, 14-12 last season, have three starters returning, 6-7 Larry Heinbaugh, 6-1 Bob Faulkner and 6-2 Shafer Suggs. A brilliant football defensive back, Suggs currently is Ball State's sixth man.

Twelve of Ohio's basketball-playing colleges are active tonight before 1974-75 season begins in full force Saturday night.

Kent State is the only major school busy both nights. The Flashes play at home against Mount Union tonight and Steubenville Saturday night.

The earliest Mid-American Conference game in history, title favorite Bowling Green at Eastern Michigan, adds spice to the 28-game Ohio car Saturday night.

Other key contests send Toledo to Michigan, Ohio University to Wisconsin, Wright State to Cincinnati, Berea to Xavier, Old Dominion to Dayton and Wabash to Miami.

Red Wings lose to Sabres

By The Associated Press

Detroit goalie Jim Rutherford, on the receiving end of 46 Buffalo shots, didn't have much to be thankful for Thursday night as the Red Wings absorbed a 5-2 National Hockey League beating at the hands of the red-hot Buffalo Sabres. Detroit, which has won only once in its last 15 games, managed only 19 shots on goal.

"We didn't give them much opposition," said Wings' Coach Alex Delvecchio. "This losing streak of ours is very frustrating and the future doesn't look very encouraging.

"We have jerseys but we don't have much ability in them."

The Detroit-Buffalo game was the only NHL contest Thursday night. In the World Hockey Association, Vancouver beat Toronto 6-2, Quebec downed Indianapolis 7-5, Houston blanked Edmonton 2-0 and Chicago shaded San Diego 3-2.

Test Your Defense

North
♠A J 8
♥10 9 6 3
♦8 4 2
♣7 6 4

East
♠K 7 4
♥A Q 8 5 2
♦J
♣J 9 3 2

The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
6 ♣

West leads the four of hearts which you win with the ace, South playing the seven. What would you play at trick two? (North's two spade bid was an ace-showing response to South's forcing two bid.)

* * *

Judging from the bidding, South has a hand that looks something like this:

♦A K Q 10 3
♣A K Q 10 8 5

The four diamond bid is the key to his distribution. He would not have bid the suit twice with less than five of them, nor would he have opened with two clubs rather than two diamonds unless he had more clubs than diamonds. It is therefore reasonable to assume that South has 6-5-1-1 distribution and defend the hand on that basis.

The proper play at trick two is a spade! To appreciate the power of this play, consider what happens if you return a heart instead. Declarer ruffs and starts to draw trumps by playing the ace at trick three.

With West showing out, South is in a commanding position to deal with your J-9-3-2. He leads a spade to the ace, takes a trump finesse, draws trumps and easily makes the rest.

If you lead a spade at trick two — whether the king, the seven or the four — you are almost certain to beat the slam. Declarer wins the spade with the ace and plays a trump to the ace, which is surely the normal thing to do. Too late he learns of the 4-0 trump division and goes down as a result of your far-sighted play at trick two.

Crusier purchase tabled

Council OKs revamping of city traffic code

An emergency ordinance designed to revamp the city's traffic ordinances was unanimously approved by Washington C.H. City Council members Wednesday night.

In addition to approving the legislation dealing with recodification of the city's traffic code, City Council members again tabled action on the purchase of new cruisers for the Washington C.H. Police Department and renewed an agreement with the Fayette County Board of Commissioners for housing prisoners in the county jail facilities. Council member Hugh S. (Bud)Patton was absent.

City Manager Dan Wolford reported to Council that a revised traffic code will become effective Jan. 1 in Ohio and that it will be necessary for the city's traffic ordinances to be completely revamped to conform with the new state code.

The city would stand to lose all fines imposed by the Municipal Court here and collect only the court costs from traffic offenders after Jan. 1 if the city's ordinances are not revamped. Wolford said if the ordinances were not revamped, traffic offenders would be charged under state statutes instead of local ordinances.

Council authorized the city manager to enter into a contract with the Walter H. Drane Co., of Cleveland, to revamp the ordinances at a total cost of $1,825.

The Cleveland firm handled the original recodification of all city ordinances, including the new criminal code which became effective last January.

Wolford explained 55 sections (200 ordinances) of the city's present traffic code need to be amended to conform with the state code.

AN ORDINANCE determining the best bid and authorizing the city manager to purchase new police cruisers was again tabled by Council members.

Because of a financial squeeze presently hampering city government operations, Council members again agreed to table the police cruiser purchase and reconsider it in early January.

The city has received two bids for the three new cruisers. Carroll Halliday, Inc., submitted a bid of $13,647 for the three 1975 models. The low bid was submitted by Ron Farmer's Auto Supermarket at a total price $13,482.

It was again pointed out that the bid submitted by Ron Farmer's Auto Supermarket did not meet specifications.

Police Chief Rodman Scott said Farmer's original bid did not meet specifications and a written agreement was submitted at a later date, but exceeded the requirements. The city had requested a 375 cubic inch engine with 195 horsepower.

Wolford said he believed Council was under an obligation to either accept one of the bids or reject both since the bids were submitted Nov. 6, however the matter was tabled until a later date.

Ron Farmer, proprietor of the Ron Farmer's Auto Supermarket, attended the meeting.

A CONTRACT with the Fayette County Board of Commissioners for housing prisoners in the county jail was renewed. However, the cost to the city for housing the prisoners has increased by 100 per cent over last year.

Under the new contract, the city will be charged $6 per day per prisoner. Last year's cost was $3 per day.

Persons charged by city police and sentenced to extended confinement are housed in the county jail along with all female prisoners.

Wolford and Scott pointed out that the new $6 fee is not outrageous since Cincinnati and Columbus charge $9 per day for prisoners confined in workhouses. The decision on where to confine prisoners is made by the courts.

G-K set to open new funeral home

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Outside the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home on Washington Avenue, with all semblance of an 18th century English castle, it would not be difficult to imagine seeing a beautiful young girl with long, flowing curls clinging to an open window in anticipation of her Prince Charming.

But inside the cold, solid stone wall, a large grandfather clock in the foyer ticks loudly away the hours of time over the solemn hush of the 14-room mansion-turned funeral home by proprietor Ned Kinzer to quickly dispel any former apparition.

THE WELL-BUILT structure was originally constructed in the four year period from 1897 to 1901 for the Marchant family. It was later occupied by the Craig family before being purchased by the Howard Osbornes for use as a tourist home.

Kinzer, who had been operating the well-known Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home at 224 N. Main St., under much smaller quarters, purchased the dwelling from the Osbornes about six months ago, which has since been undergoing complete remodeling from top to bottom.

With the grand opening this weekend, Kinzer will be unveiling no doubt one of the most thorough and demanding remodeling enterprises undergone in this city for some time. At 3 p.m. Sunday, clergymen from all faiths, under the direction of the Rev. Gerald Wheat, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will conduct a dedication service for the funeral home chapel.

Through consultation with Bob Whitaker, general superintendent of the Great Oaks Construction Co., the firm which handled the construction, Kinzer and his wife Martha, selected patterns, furniture and designs for revamping every room in the mansion, from the living quarters in the upper level, the chapel and visitation areas on the first floor and the showroom, morgue and office in the basement — besides the addition of the stone frontage, porchway and parking lot to the exterior.

Kinzer is especially proud of the chapel and 450-pound lift installed in the funeral home. The chapel on the south side of the building can seat 180 people in the cozy and air-conditioned

Included in the chapel besides the carpeting, burlap-upholstered pews, decorative black railing and marble-inlaid shelving for flowers, are two, stained glass windows of facing angels behind the pulpit, overlooking Columbus Avenue. A four-microphone public address system has also been installed for transmitting sound from the singers, organ, piano and ministers separately during the service and adjustable lights may be used to regulate light intensity.

A 450-pound lift has been erected off to the side of the chapel from the morgue below for easier handling of heavy caskets, especially the 250-pound solid oak coffins. The lift may be operated from levers at either location. Restrooms and fire exit are situated to the rear of the chapel.

Also on the first level are four rooms for visitation and calling hour services. One large, two medium and a very small visitation room are available for various sized services and assemblages. All are decorated with velvet wallpapering, full carpeting, original oak framework and ceiling beams, fireplaces and brass light fixtures, most of which have been converted from gas to electric fuel. One visitation room features built-in bookcases and cabinets with leaded glass panes. All the downstairs rooms may be set off by closing sliding, double doors of solid oak.

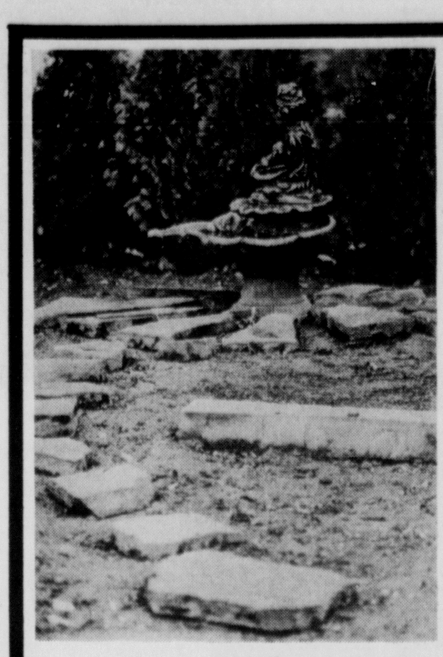

A small pantry has been turned into an office and is equipped with a two-way radio system to communicate with the ambulance service. Just beyond the pantry wall, overlooking the entrance way, is a large copper chandelier, which has also been passed on with the near century-old mansion. To the rear on the first floor is a back porch, altered to provide an area for storage and receiving flowers. A large walk-in ice box on the porch is now a storage vault where rows of kleenex boxes await their need.

The basement has been converted into a morgue, showroom and office retreat for Kinzer. The morgue, or preparation room, is equipped with the most modern cleaning facilities and storage space. The majority of the basement area serves as a showroom of the various size, makes and construction of caskets. The showroom can display 20 coffins at one time for viewing, Kinzer said. His small, informal office to one side of the showroom is conveniently located for business with the family of the deceased.

KINZER SAID the remodeling has resulted in a systematic and functional arrangement for the funeral home with the showroom inside the funeral home itself and equipped with the lift for easier handling, something greatly lacking at the Main Street location.

The exterior of the mansion has undergone extensive remodeling with the addition of the hand-cut and laid stone front, "castle" wall, constructed by Carl and George Ruzicka of Columbus, which matches the original stone of the house. A 40-foot radio antenna and large cross are also to be erected on the Washington Avenue site.

An added, special attraction at the funeral home, said Kinzer, will be the flying of the flag that draped the casket of his father, Ned Sr. The flag has remained folded since his funeral on Feb. 10, 1967.

Funeral directing more than just a job to Ned Kinzer

NED KINZER

In all appearance Ned Kinzer is just a simple, wisp of a man—a product of his native, rural Fayette County environment. He speaks slowly and cautiously, with each word carefully selected and weighed before its utterance. Yet seated in his basement office at the newly-completed Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home where he feels most comfortable, Ned Kinzer comes alive to retell with pride and vivacity of the only life he knows — that of an embalmer.

As sole director of the reputable Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, established by the late John and Selby Gerstner at 224 N. Main St., in 1945, Kinzer now boasts of over 20 years experience in an undying business, to excuse the expression. As one of only three funeral homes in Washington C. H., Kinzer services between 128 and 130 bodies per year. He has bought the right to maintain the Gerstner-Kinzer name for 15 years because of its establishment within the community.

To Kinzer, being a funeral director and embalmer is more than a profession, it is an art. Just as a sculptor takes hours and hours to mold a crude clod of clay into a beautiful, flawless piece of art, so an embalmer also utilizes many manhours in order to determine the exact amount and consistency of fluid to be administered in a body to produce the most natural-looking composition and makeup.

"Embalmers are more professional now than ever before and take great pride in their work," Kinzer said. "Sometimes it is pathetic what you start with, especially some cancer victims when even the skin shrinks, but often the results are remarkable." Although in his business, Kinzer is not known to be overloaded with compliments, he does strive for self-satisfaction in his work.

Kinzer explained how an early childhood experience with a death in the family, back when funeral services were generally held in the home, had pinched a nerve of curiosity and prodded him into seeking employment which would eventually gear him toward a lifetime career.

"When I was very small, I remember my uncle died and he was placed in the front room for the service. Being young and nosey, I went to look and this must have touched off my curiosity," he said.

While still in Washington High School, Kinzer worked part-time as an assistant in the old Hook Funeral Home. Following graduation, he served a two-year apprenticeship before graduating from the Cincinnati Embalming College in 1949 and becoming associated with the Gerstners.

Kinzer reflected on the differences in viewing and reacting to death today as experienced by people in contrast to the period when the dead were brought to the homes for observance and reverence. "People were much closer to death then," he said. "They were more often exposed to the gradual deterioration of health in their loved ones and were more readily able to accept death. That isn't so now, though, with so many people who are sick dying in either hospitals or nursing homes away from their families.

"People seemed to have taken life more seriously then when they were closer to death," he continued. Preoccupation in daily routines and the modest exposure to death because of people living much longer lives today were cited as primary factors in the modern reactions to death.

Kinzer also revealed how his own feelings toward life and mortality have been altered through his day-to-day association with death. "You really can appreciate living for what it is and strive to make use of it to the fullest degree," he said. "So many are afraid of death and yet, to me, it's not them they should be worrying about but the ones living."

More and more, people are requesting that their family or loved ones be cremated rather than buried due to overcrowded cemeteries, said Kinzer, although he has no facilities for cremation purposes in his funeral home. Kinzer added, however, that he does obey such requests by preparing the body for viewing and then transferring it to Columbus where there are cremation apparatuses. He said he had considered installing such equipment with the move and remodeling of the new funeral home but that "torch chambers" generally run around $37,000.

"To be a funeral director, you must be sympathetic to people," Kinzer observed. In such time of grief, funeral directors find that they must serve first as an understanding friend before businessman, Kinzer pointed out.

He is assisted in his business by two attendants, his wife Martha, who handles all bookkeeping and acts as "all-round assistant" in the preparation room, and their daughter Kim, a junior at Washington Senior High School, who also helps with the office work.

In explaining the procedure involved in making arrangements for a funeral, Kinzer said it generally requires on the average of three days from the occurrence of death to the final interment. The first step is to obtain the body as quickly as possible after the moment of death and remove it to the funeral home. The most important requirement at this stage is to be "neat, clean and proper," said Kinzer.

Once the death certificate has been signed by either the coroner or a licensed physician, the body is taken to the preparation room (or morgue) for embalming, where there is no admittance except for attendants and physicians. The embalming process takes approximately six to eight hours.

The funeral director then meets with the family (usually the next morning) to discuss media notices of death, selection of the casket, cemetery, flowers and services. Next to Kinzer's office in the basement of the funeral home is the showroom where he can conveniently display 20 caskets at one time for selection in all price brackets. Coffins may be of many types including either solid oak, steel, solid copper, octagon cloth and full or half-couch.

The average expense of a funeral service may run normally between $1,200 and $1,300, depending on the type of casket selected and the extent of the service, Kinzer said.

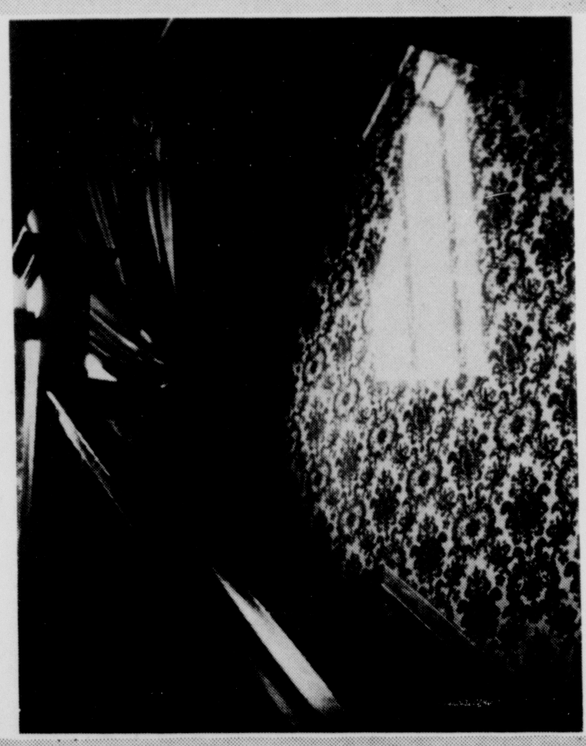

Every funeral home is inspected without notice by the Ohio Funeral Directors Association, who check to make sure there is a fan equipped in the morgue room, that the instruments, sinks and tables are clean and that the directors are qualified to operate the funeral business.

"It's just a very hard business to explain," Kinzer noted. "Every case is different and must be treated in its own respect."

Doctors to report on Nixon

Haldeman became the second of the five defendants to take the witness stand with the trial still waiting for a report from court-appointed doctors on whether former President Nixon is well enough to testify.

A spokesman for Dr. Charles Hufnagel, chairman of the three-man panel which examined Nixon and his medical records in California on Monday, said the report would be delivered to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica before noon.

Haldeman began testifying after former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell completed his defense case with 20 minutes of cross examination by an attorney for one of the other defendants.

Haldeman described his role on the Nixon White House staff as having "the basic responsibility for the planning and implementation of the President's daily activites... my time was scheduled solely on the basis of the demands of the President's time."

He described himself as "the one person who was totally available to the President day or night" with the responsibility to "get done whatever he wanted done or find out whatever he wanted to find out."

Then he described where various White House aides worked in relation to the President's Oval Office.

Located closest to the President's office was Alexander P. Butterfield, said Haldeman. Next was the office of Rose Mary Woods, Nixon's personal secretary, and next to her office was Haldeman's.

Haldeman, Mitchell, former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman, former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee, are charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Parkinson's lawyer drew from Mitchell testimony that the former attorney general had never met Parkinson before July 13, 1972, when Parkinson was brought in to defend the re-election committee against a civil suit by the Democratic National Committee. Mitchell said he told Parkinson the re-election committee had no involvement in the Watergate break-in.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The court-appointed panel of doctors that examined former President Nixon earlier this week told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today that Nixon is not presently able to travel to Washington to testify in the Watergate cover-up trial.

HIT BY DISCRIMINATION — Joyce Arkhurst plays the piano at her home in New York City. The American Cancer Society says Mrs. Arkhurst's failure to get a job as associate information officer for a United Nations project is an example of discrimination against former cancer patients. She had breast cancer surgery last April and her doctor says he considers her cured.

Water company proposal eyed

Council continues to ponder gloomy financial situation

BY MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Editor

Washington C. H. City Council members continued to grapple with the city's gloomy financial condition during its regular semi-monthly meeting in the City Office Building.

The meeting opened 12 minutes late as City Council members huddled behind closed doors with representatives of the Ohio Water Service Co., apparently to discuss a proposed new rate increase.

Following the sound defeat of the proposed 1.25 per cent income tax issue at the polls earlier this month, Council members have been attempting to solve the financial crisis in the city government operation, and a public airing of the difficulties looms as a possibility.

Councilman Donald E. Wood, with the support of fellow Council members Ralph Cook and Mrs. Bertha McCullough, suggested a public meeting be scheduled to review the city's gloomy financial and possible remedies.

One of the remedies discussed briefly was a one half per cent income tax being imposed before Jan. 1.

HOWEVER, City Council chairman John E. Rhoads said, "There's no point in deciding an additional finances until the proposed budget is reviewed more thoroughly."

Earlier in the meeting Rhoads had said the city "is not broke, just badly bent." The city legislators again discussed that the city has been ignoring its obligations by not paying the principal amounts of its notes during 1974 and that bills are being withheld from payment as another money-saving measure.

Representatives of the Ohio Water Service Co., met with Council members in a closed unannounced session Wednesday apparently to review a proposed rate increase. The proposed rate increase first surfaced last March.

Water company officials said the utility firm has been hampered by escalating prices since its last rate increase nearly 15 years ago.

The company, in a prepared statement issued to news media personnel immediately following the closed session, said since the last rate hike construction costs have increased 118 per cent; the investment per customer has increased 48 per cent; ther amount of water facilities has increased 84 per cent; operation and maintenance expenses have risen 78 per cent; the gallons of water sold have increased 56 per cent, but operating income has decreased 17 per cent; interest rates have increased from 4.5 to 6 per cent, and the Consumer Price Index has risen 43 per cent.

Six-week search ends

Marcum selected for Chamber post

Bruce Galloway, president of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, has announced the selection of John Marcum, Rt. 1, Greenfield, to fill the position of executive vice president, left vacant since the resignation of James Dunn in October.

The 28-year-old Marcum was chosen over eight other applicants and inquiries from all over the country for the position. Galloway said that "after approximately six weeks of reviewing applications and interviewing applicants, the Chamber felt Marcum's background and capabilities expressed during the interview sessions would enable him to fill the job adequately."

Galloway said in the selection of an executive vice president, the Chamber of Commerce looked at the applicants' background, education and ability to react and innovate under stress in an interview situation, by discussing theoretical problems which may come up on the job.

Marcum said the executive vice president "basically runs the Chamber under the direction of the board of directors."

Ford slates China visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford plans to visit mainland China next year in a move to accelerate U.S. relations with the mainland and to balance Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev's trip to Washington next June.

An announcement of the presidential visit, giving no specific date or reason, was given in a joint communique issued today in Washington and Peking as Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's completed a five-day trip to China.

U.S. officials traveling with Kissinger said they expected the trip would take place late in 1975. It was also understood that the Chinese took the initiative in arranging the visit.

Ford will be following the footsteps of former President Richard Nixon, whose 1972 visit marked the end of a quarter century of estrangement and produced the Shanghai communique setting guidelines for developing normal relations between the two nations.

The communique today said that "U.S. and Chinese sides held frank, wide-ranging and mutually frank talks" during Kissinger's visit. It added: "They reaffirmed their unchanged committments to the principles of the Shanghai communique."

Otherwise, Kissinger's visit produced no evident major advance in improving relations, although an agreement appeared to be near on compensation to Americans whose property was seized after the Chinese revolution.

"I look forward to visiting the People's Republic of China sometime next year and to continuing the process of normalizing our relations," Ford said in a written statement.

Ford sets grid attendance after Thanksgiving reunion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford travels to Philadelphia Saturday to watch the annual football game between Army and Navy, two teams he could sympathize with even if he weren't commander-in-chief.

Both teams have records of three wins and seven defeats. But even that is better than Michigan's record of only one victory during Ford's senior year there.

In addition, the President will be fresh from a nostalgic reunion on Thanksgiving Day with his former high school football teammates.

One member of the 1930 South High School team in Grand Rapids, Mich., Silas McGee of San Francisco, called the White House gathering "the high point of my life."

McGee, who played end and halfback, called the President "Junie," as the team members posed with a football, laughing and joking in front of the team banner. A seven-man Marine band combo played the team's fight song.

"Can you still catch one," Ford, the center on the team and later at the University of Michigan, called to McGee.

Retired longshoreman McGee clowned with the ball and jokingly told reporters, "Junie's following me. That's the way he always gave me interference — he always followed me."

The Army-Navy game will be the first contest Ford has attended this year although he says he loves to watch both the colleges and the pros on television, often while reading official papers.

Although he has been described as an All American, Ford has acknowledged that the myth of his prowess grows bigger with each passing year.

After starring on the high school team, he was a benchwarmer on two good Michigan teams in 1932 and 1933 but was a starter on what he describes as a bad 1934 club, one riddled by graduation.

After the season, Ford was named "most valuable" and his abilities as a center and linebacker won him an invitation to play in the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco on Jan. 1, 1935.

His 58-minute performance on offense and defense earned him several bids to play professional football.

"Pro ball did not have the allure it has now," Ford told Jerry ter Horst in his biography, "Gerry Ford and the future of the Presidency."

"Though my interest was piqued at the time. I didn't lose any sleep over the offers."

Instead of turning pro, for $200 a game for a 14-game season, Ford went to Yale, where he later attended law school.

Prison official faces discipline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State Corrections Chief Bennett Cooper says departmental disciplinary action could be taken against an associate superintendent of the Lucasville penitentiary because of his conviction for nonpayment of child support.

Cooper said the action against Rowland R. Lutz, 49, of Lucasville, could range from a reprimand to "dismissal."

Lutz was sentenced to 60 days in the Franklin County Workhouse Wednesday for failing to pay more than $1,600 in child support for his illegitimate infant son. The sentence was handed down by Domestic Relations Judge Donald Breckenridge.

Lutz earns $17,514 a year as head of the penitentiary's treatment services.

Marriage racket growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal authorities are worried about a booming racket in marriages purchased by poor aliens from those who prey upon their dreams of life in the United States.

Fraudulent marriage rackets are popping up with increasing frequency in the big cities harboring thousands of aliens who come to this country illegally and live in daily fear of deportation.

Officials of the Immigration and Naturalization Service say they have stepped up their investigations of the practice.

The scheme typically involves a racketeer scenting easy prey in the alien desperate to remain in the United States but understanding little of its language and less about its laws.

These aliens usually were lured here by the promise of jobs and high wages to send home to their improverished families. Others may have come to study at universities, then lingered beyond the time allowed by their student visas.

Whatever their motives, they form the pool of potential victims or sometimes knowing conspirators in the marriage scheme.

The racketeer and the alien need one other party to complete the fraud: a U.S. citizen or legal resident alien willing to marry for money or at least go through the motions of a wedding ceremony.

Wedded to an American citizen or permanent legal immigrant, an alien almost automatically gains official permission to remain in the United States no matter how he got here.

William Wood, a criminal investigator for the Immigration Service, said some fraudulent marriages appear to be real because the spouses live together for a time. But investigators become suspicious when the alien spouse wins legal resident status, then quickly files for divorce.

The organized marriage racket, however, often relies on a few American citizens who carry out multiple "marriages" with the aid of false identification papers, Wood said in an interview.

Marriage brokers charge an alien anywhere from $250 to $1,500 to arrange the wedding, he added.

"Fraudulent marriage is one of the popular, growing and expensive schemes to flout the immigration laws," INS Commissioner Leonard F. Chapman said in a recent speech.

"Organized marriage rings are being uncovered monthly," he continued. "We recently discovered in Miami a woman and her two daughters who had petitioned for entry into this country for 13 alien 'husbands,' all from Haiti.

"The mother has eight marriages that we know of, one daughter has three and the other has two — all without benefit of divorce."

He said the Americans who agree to marry aliens often are victims themselves.

"Many are persons of low income, especially women who perhaps have children to support," he related.

Lakewood widow wins $300,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 75-year-old widow from suburban Lakewood carried off the $300,000 top prize in the Ohio lottery Buckeye 300 drawing today.

Mrs. Harriet D. Bryan said she plans to put some of the money in the bank, because "I may need it one of these days.

I don't want to go to the home."

Rudy A. Obst, 44, of Springfield Township near Toledo, and Thomas H. McDonald, 73, of Canton, each won $15,000 prizes.

There were only three contestants for this week's Buckeye 300.

Winning digits

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Ohio Lottery Commission said today's winning weekly numbers are 971 for the single set and 020 078 for the double.

Israeli soldiers slay 5 guerrillas

By The Associated Press

Israel said its soldiers killed five Arab guerrilla infiltrators early today in a firefight on the border with Lebanon.

The reported clash occurred a few hours before the United Nations Security Council was to meet in New York on the Middle East. The meeting is specifically to vote on whether to extend for six months the mandate placing a peacekeeping observer force on the Golan Heights between Israeli and Syrian troops. The initial six-month mandate expires Saturday night.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said an Israeli patrol engaged the guerrillas as they tried to slip through a security fence near Mt. Dov, overlooking southeastern Lebanon. No Israeli casualties were reported.

The spokesman said rifles, bazookas and sabotage equipment were found with the slain invaders.

There was no immediate comment from Lebanese defense officials or Palestinian guerrilla spokesmen in Lebanon.

On the eve of the Security Council session, Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim returned to New York from a five-day swing through Israel, Jordan and Egypt. He described the region's political climate as improved but added that great barriers remain before peace talks can be reopened.

Syria reportedly had objections to keeping the U.N. troops in place, but these were smoothed over at the last minute. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger reported Syria's acquiescence during his visit to Peking, and Waldheim confirmed it after meeting with Syrian leaders.

Waldheim estimated the cost of the buffer force for the next six months at $7.6 million. It now has 1,224 soldiers from Austria, Peru, Canada and Poland plus a headquarters staff and military observers.

Israelis today marked the 27th anniversary of the U.N. vote on Nov. 29, 1947, that divided biblical Palestine into a state for the Jews and one for the Palestinians. A split among small states swung the vote in Israel's favor, and the proposal passed 33-13 with 10 abstentions. In those early days of the United Nations, the Third World countries now dominating the General Assembly were not members.

The Arabs rejected the 1947 decision and invaded areas already settled by 650,000 Jews. It was the first of four ArabIsraeli wars and ended with the Jews holding large chunks of land originally earmarked for Palestine.

Nitze disappointed in atom arms pact

"The real problem we face is the imminent deployment of a new family of Soviet missiles," Nitze said in an interview. "I don't see that the new pact reduces that problem appreciably."

He also said he had hoped for a lower ceiling on missiles that can carry multiple independently targetable warheads (MIRVs) than the 1,200 to 1,300 reportedly allowed on each side under the new agreement.

Nitze, who played a key role in negotiations leading to the first SALT agreement in 1972, resigned abruptly last June, saying the Watergate scandal made it impossible for the Nixon administration to achieve a successful long-term pact that would enhance U.S. security.

He said at the time that, until the effectiveness of the presidency was restored, "I see no real prospect for reversing certain unfortunate trends in the evolving situation" surrounding the then-deadlocked talks on SALT II.

Asked for his opinion of the new agreement worked out during Ford's meeting with Soviet Communist chief Leonid I. Brezhnev in Vladivostok, Nitze said, "I am disappointed."

Nitze made it clear he is concerned because the agreement leaves the Russians free to deploy big new missiles with several times the "throw weight," or lifting power, of U.S. missiles.

With this major "throw weight" superiority, critics say, the Russians may be able to mount enough powerful and accurate MIRV warheads by the early 1980s to threaten U.S. land-based missiles in their launch silos, even with the agreed ceiling on the number of missiles that can launch them.

As a result of the new agreement's failure to curb Russia's big new multiple warhead missiles, Nitze said, "There is much we will need to do" to assure the survivability of the U.S. land-based missile force.

"We certainly should consider a land-mobile missile," Nitze said.

A mobile missile system, which would be costly, would be extremely difficult for an enemy to destroy in a surprise attack, unlike missiles which sit in fixed silos.

streets, for the past two years and is presently president of the Washington C.H. Jaycees.

He also worked in production planning for six years with National Cash Register Co., and with the loan department of the Chemical Bank and Trust Co., Charleston, W. Va., before moving to Washington C.H.

A graduate of South Charleston High School in 1964, Marcum attended Concord College in Athens, W. Va., where he studied accounting and business management. He has held several offices during his five years with the Washington C.H. Jaycees as director, past secretary and past treasurer and is currently serving his fourth year on the board of directors.

He and his wife, Jackie, are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Washington C.H. They have three children and reside at 4511 Miami Trace Road.

Although Marcum will take office Jan. 1 in the middle of a term, he said he felt his experience with the Jaycees in working cooperatively with the Chamber of Commerce on various projects such as the recent Christmas parade, will aid him in fulfilling the fulltime capacity as executive vice president.

Ford plans executive clemency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford arranged today to sign his first grants of executive clemency, and perhaps some unconditional pardons, of convicted military deserters and draft evaders.

The Presidential Clemency Board earlier this week recommended an undisclosed number of cases for action by Ford, a board spokeswoman said. Board chairman Charles E. Goodell had said last week that 62 cases were being examined.

All 62 men had been furloughed from federal prisons or military stockades while seeking clemency.

The White House signing ceremony early this afternoon was to be followed by a news briefing by Goodell, and individual summaries of the cases recommended to Ford were to be released, the spokeswoman said.

The board is empowered to recommend executive clemency, including commutation of sentence and either unconditional pardon or pardon conditioned on alternative civilian service.

Stock list drifts lower

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.13 at 616.16, and losers outnumbered gainers by about 5 to 3 in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that many investors were taking a four-day Thanksgiving holiday.

Safeway Stores, the Big Board volume leader, lost ¾ to 36. The company said it was studying a switch to last-in first-out accounting for its inventories, a step which the company estimated would reduce reported 1974 earnings by $1.25 a share.

Kissinger ends talks with Chinese

PEKING (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, on his way home from Peking without seeing Chairman Mao, made no major breakthrough during this trip to the Chinese capital.

But he said Thursday night in a parting toast the Americans and their hosts had "deepened our common understanding.... We committed ourselves to continuing the process of normalization."

The secretary of state; his wife Nancy; and his two children by a previous marriage, Elizabeth, 15, and David, 13, flew from Peking to Soochow, an ancient garden city, early today. They were sightseeing in Soochow today and planned to fly to Tokyo tonight.

Kissinger met twice on Thursday with China's vice premier, Teng Hsiao-ping, but no details on the talks were disclosed. A communique on Kissinger's five-day visit was expected today or Saturday.

In his banquet toast to Kissinger, Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua said their exchanges were held "in a candid spirit." Kissinger replied that "the process of improving relations with the People's Republic is a fixed principle of American foreign policy."

The Taiwan issue remains a major unsettled point between Washington and Peking. U.S. officials said both sides were simply waiting for developments on Taiwan, and neither side is pushing for a fast resolution.

Snow may spread into the southern two-thirds of Ohio tonight and Saturday, while snow flurries are forecast for northern counties.

Quite a bit of cloudiness appeared over the state during the night, but only traces of snow were reported in the northeast.

Highs today were forecast to range from the low 30s to low 40s. Lows tonight will range from the teens to low 30s and highs Saturday should show little change from those today.

Cold with a chance of snow flurries, mainly north, Sunday and Monday. Cloudy Tuesday. Highs from the upper 20s to mid 30s Sunday and Monday, warming to from the upper 30s to mid 40s Tuesday. Lows 15 to 25.

Ircel Knedler joins Federal Land Bank

Ircel Knedler Jr., Staunton-Sugar Grove Road, is now associated with the Federal Land Bank Association in Washington C.H., according to Ronald D. Ratliff, manager.

The 39-year-old Knedler will be assisting Ratliff and field assistant Glenn Whittington in working with long-term real estate loans in Madison, Fayette and Clinton counties.

Born in Fayette County, Knedler is a graduate of Fairfield High School in Leesburg, where he was active in the 4-H and Future Farmers of America programs and received State Farm and American Farmer degrees. He was engaged in farming until 1962 when he moved to Florida and served five years as assistant field chemist with the U.S. Sugar Corp., Clewiston, Fla., and beginning in 1968 he served nearly seven years in farm management with Opekasit, Inc., of London.

IRCEL KNEDLER

The Knedlers have resided on Staunton-Sugar Grove Road for nearly three years and presently he farms the family farm on the Greenfield-Sabina Road. They are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Washington C.H.

Knedler and his wife, Jana, have three daughters, Karmel, 17, Kindra, 12, and Kimberly, 3.

Ex-siamese twins out of hospital

PHILADELPHIA — Altagracia and Clara Rodriguez, Siamese twins until they were separated in a rare operation two months ago, have been discharged from Children's Hospital.

"May God bless this country and its people," said Mrs. Salvador Rodriguez, their mother. The twins had been born Aug. 12, 1973 in the Dominican Republic.

Mrs. Rodriguez was told the girls would die but Mrs. Joseph Zimnoch of Harrington, Pa., got her church to raise funds to bring them here for surgery.

A 23-member medical team performed the 6½ hour operation in September.

Salary proposal on board slate

The Washington C. H. Board of Education will meet Monday night to consider a raise in the salary schedule for school employes.

The board is expected to approve a raise in the neighborhood of five per cent for all school personnel excluding full-time administrators. The new salary schedule is to become effective immediately.

The board will also consider the purchase of two textbooks for Washington Senior High School and a request for approval of a college course for one of the faculty members.

Meeting slated

The regular meeting of the Fayette County chapter of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, December 5 in the Landmark feed plant, Old Chillicothe Road.

All OCSEA members are invited to attend.

Three youths charged with station burglary

Three Fayette County juveniles have been arrested by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and charged with the alleged breaking and entering of the Ashland Oil service station at the intersection of U.S. 35 and Camp Grove Road, which occurred sometime last Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies reported the trio, a 15-year-old girl and two boys, ages 15 and 16, have been charged with probation violation. The girl has been released to her parents, while the youths are still incarcerated in the Fayette County juvenile detention facility.

The service station was entered by forcing the front door and seven packs of cigarettes, 15 ink pens, a woman's watch, some food from the refrigerator, seven quarts of oil, four pairs of sunglasses, a flashlight and a hunting coat were taken.

The solen items were valued around $60.

Officers check suicide attempt

A Washington C.H. woman attempted to committ suicide through an overdose on Thanksgiving Day, the Washington C.H. Police Department reported and Fayette County Sheriff's Deputies investigated the theft of a hunting dog and an incident of sugar stealing.

A 19-year-old Washington C.H. woman took 16 Sominex tablets and two diet pills the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day in a suicide attempt, prompted by personal problems, police reported.

The woman later decided not to go through with the attempt and petitioned a neighbor to take her to Fayette Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

A $200 Spaniel hunting dog with orange and white coloring, belonging to Rollin L. Emerson, of Cincinnati, was stolen in the vicinity of the railroad tracks along Whiteoak Road around 10 a.m. Thursday. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating the grand larceny.

Three sugar containers valued at $6, were stolen from the Days Inn Motel at the intersection of I-71 and U.S. 35, at 2:25 p.m. Wednesday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Opinion And Comment

Death penalty review

The law with regard to capital punishment has been in a state of some confusion since the Supreme Court handed down a ruling on the subject in 1972. This arises from the court's failure to deal unequivocally with the central issue. Instead it ruled in essence that death penalty laws as then administered by the states were unconstitutional because they were unequally applied.

Since then a number of states have revised their statutes to the exent of making the death penalty mandatory under some circumstances. This has not, however, cured the unequal treatment problem. For various reasons, notably the discretionary powers of governors and prosecutors, even mandatory death penalty laws may be unequally applied.

In light of all this it is heartening that the Supreme Court has now agreed to take up the matter again. In reviewing a North Carolina case involving a murder in a dice game argument, the court is expected to go deeper and perhaps rule on the basic question whether the death penalty is unconstitutional under any circumstances. It will be good to have a broader decision on this troubling subject.

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

The zoos as the animals' best friend

With human beings starving to death in much of Africa and Asia and facing economic or political distress practically everywhere else, I suppose it is a tribute to the human heart that people still have time to concern themselves with the beasts of the field and the fowl of the air. So, when hundreds of animal lovers converge on the Central Park Zoo in New York City to protest the caging of monkeys and polar bears, when Cleveland Amory writes a book, "Man Kind?", that is as anti-zoo as the Israelis are anti-Yasir Arafat, one can empathize with the pro-animal partisans.

Maybe the protesters are right about the Central Park Zoo. Since the Park itself has become a paradise for muggers, it is quite conceivable that its general atmosphere of fear has dried up the milk of human kindness in some of the zoo keepers.

Out in the broad hinterlands of the republic there are zoo authorities who consider the occasional existence of a bad zoo to be their worst enemy. And, since the season for protest is here, they vigorously object to being judged by the alleged bad behavior of any big city zoo on the U.S. northeastern seaboard.

Thus we have Ronald Blakely of Wichita, Kansas, president of the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums who has spent 27 years with animals, arguing that the good zoo, in a time when the natural habitats of wildlife are being progressively destroyed everywhere, should be considered a prime ally of animal lovers who have been responsible for such legislation as the Marine Mammal Act and the Endangered Species Act. Along with William Braker of the Shedd Aquarium in Chicago, who is the past AAZPA president, and Robert Wagner, the director of the Jackson, Miss., Zoological Park, Blakely thinks the zoo, like Noah's Ark of old, is destined to be the savior of hosts of species that otherwise would fall victim to the encroachments of civilization on the jungles and open ranges of the world.

There are at least 20 organizations in Washington, D.C., that are trying to force Congress to phase out zoos in the U.S., or at least support the Dingley bill for federalizing the zoos.

Their hearts are in the right place, but their heads do not know how to reckon with realities. The fact is that in an inflationary period there is very little Federal money available for zoos; the Office of Endangered Species is woefully underbudgeted and understaffed.

The animal lovers mean well but, in their indiscriminate warfare on all the zoos, the good as well as the bad, they are taking a course that may very well condemn the Bengal tiger and the South African cheetah to extinction.

Consider the dolphin, for example. The tuna fishing fleets of the world have slaughtered some 200,000 dolphins a year by the sheer inadvertence of strangling them in fishing gear. The U.S. is trying to do something about this, but it is giving the tuna fishermen two years of grace (or disgrace?) to find a way of catching tunas without hurting other marine life. Then there is the job of trying to persuade foreign governments to be as humanitarian as the U.S. government hopes to by by 1977.

Meanwhile, it is practically impossible for an American aquarium to acquire a dolphin here and now in 1974 for show purposes. Since the capture of a dolphin for an aquarium might save his life from the tuna fishermen, the aquarium owners, who are perfectly willing to give a dolphin plenty of water in which to disport himself, wonder why the Department of Commerce and the Department of the Interior should interpose such mountains of red tape between the decision to buy a dolphin and the actual delivery of this most intelligent of sea creatures.

Zoos would be satisfied with just enough cheetahs, leopards, jaguars and ocelots to establish breeding banks. The great cats of the world will reproduce themselves in captivity, which need not be onerous under modern conditions.

In 1968-69 a total of 3,168 cheetahs, 17,490 leopards, 23,347 jaguars and 262,032 ocelots were killed for the fur trade. The end of such killing is not in sight; the economic interests of too many countries are involved. Yet American zoos now have their government-made troubles in getting show cats for the sanctuaries they are offering the endangered felines of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Mr. Blakely, who keeps insisting that the bad zoo is his worst enemy, doesn't mind Cleveland Amory's desire to protect the animals. But he argues that Amory doesn't actually have the ghost of an idea of what goes on in an animal's mind.

Animals, says Mr. Blakely, do not have guilty consciences. Some animals — the elephant is one — like human company; others, notably the giraffe, do not. The trick is to respect their prejudices in the sort of sanctuary that is extended to them.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Even though your day may be crowded, don't overlook details through haste. Seemingly minor factors could be most important to the overall picture of a successful day.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Everyday matters will probably run their routine course, but evening brings a surprise invitation from some highly amusing companions.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Others often criticize you for being overly emotional, of "thinking with your heart," but your "feelings" about a current situation will be right on target.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Job matters may prove more strenuous than usual, but some delightful news from an old friend will make your day.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Curb emotions and do not let sympathy for one cause blind you to the attributes of another. Take care of undertakings in order, but without anxiety.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mixed influences. Your efforts may not show immediate returns. They will, however, strengthen your current status. Stress accuracy, precision.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

There may be more than one way to achieve your goal, so keep eyes and ears open. Generally speaking, the strong and decisive try will pay off.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

As the week draws to a close, prepare to revive depleted energies, dwindling resources. Rekindle an optimistic outlook toward the future.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You usually like to solve your own problems, but don't arbitrarily reject another's idea. It may be more practical than your own.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Mixed influences. Be prompt to reject unethical, or even slightly questionable schemes. Too much is at stake; too much can get out of hand.

YOU BORN TODAY, a Scorpio-Sagittarian cuspal (born at the change of Signs), are endowed with some of the most powerful characteristics to be found in the entire roster of zodiacal natives. You are, innately, a leader; are capable, extremely enterprising, versatile and have a flair for the dramatic and unusual. You could succeed in many areas but, notably, as a business executive, scientist, jurist, statesman or, along creative lines, as a writer, journalist or musician. Your integrity is outstanding and anyone entrusting his affairs to your hands is lucky indeed.

Bad economic news plentiful

NEW YORK (AP) — At the very time American corporations are making their commitments for 1975 the economic news seems to have taken a turn for the worse, reinforcing the need of pessimists, eroding that of optimists.

One result, says Walter Headley, economists and vice president of the Bank of America, is that industry is cutting expectations even more, not in "meat ax" style perhaps, "but they're rounding down."

The bad news seems plentiful as the autumn leaves.

Wholesale prices rose at an annual rate of nearly 28 per cent in October, and that means consumer price increases for many weeks ahead. The coal miners are on strike. Auto makers are cutting production and laying off workers.

If the coal strike continues it will mean steel production will be cut. If the auto makers can't sell their cars then the glass and rubber industries, among others, will be hurt. All are very basic industries.

Industrial production continues to drop even without these events and expectations. It fell 0.6 per cent in October, the steepest since February. Unemployment is almost certain to reach 7 per cent by early 1975.

The dismal record of the past haunts the present and clouds the future. The third quarter inflation rate has just been revised to 11.8 per cent from 11.5.

Housing continues in a slump. Consumers are said by pollsters to be cutting their spending plans. First National City Bank, which recently joined the consumer pollsters, found only six of 100 people nationwide felt the economy would improve within the next six months.

Albert Sindlinger of Sindlinger & Co., which polls consumers by telephone seven days a week, and has been doing so for well over a decade, found "confidence over the past weekend was like an iceberg melting."

Abroad, the U.S. dollar continues to slump as speculators move into West German marks, partly because that country stated it wouldn't mind if the mark floated higher in relation to some currencies, including the dollar.

The world worries about being able to recycle the dollars accumulating in the Mideast. "People here are drenched by gloom and doom from West Europe about the problem of recycling dollars," said Headley. "In Western Europe they just won't listen to optimism."

Those investors who hoped the stock market had found the bottom it has sought so earnestly are learning that the bottom must have many tiers, and they don't appreciate the pun.

The Mideast political and military situation doesn't seem to improve. Food prices continue to rise.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She might not settle for peanuts

DEAR ABBY: As a lawyer, may I comment on the dilemma of the divorcee who didn't know what to say when a man asked for sex outside of marriage?

She should give him a calm, lawyer-like answer; he is asking her to trust him with her body. She is running the risk of an unwanted pregnancy. What is HE risking?

Shouldn't the risk be equal? Why doesn't he give her $1,000 in cash to put into her savings account, and at the end of nine months, if there is no unwanted baby, she can cheerfully return his $1,000.

If she does become pregnant, she can use the money for an abortion, or partial support of the child. In that way, he at least risks something. It is clearly unfair to ask a girl to have sex, and should something go wrong, all the risk be hers.

While the risk can never be made truly equal. The deposit of $1,000 to her account before sex would make it a little more equal.

I wonder how many men who would ask a girl to risk her body are willing to risk some of their money?

J.M.S.: PLANDOME, N.Y.

DEAR J.M.S.: If your proposition is truly "lawyer-like," the legal profession is in trouble. The girl's unlawyer-like response could be: "If your really want to monkey around, I'm not settling for peanuts!"

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old fellow who has always liked older women. (I mean women about 45 or 50. I really groove on gray hair, and a woman with middle-age spread.)

I could never get turned on by girls my own age, and I have tried. Do you think there's something wrong with me?

When I was 17, I became very much attracted to one of my high school teachers (she was about 40) and she told me I should have a long talk with the school psychologist, but I never did.

I've heard of men marrying women 20 years older than themselves, and I can't see where there is anything terribly wrong with that.

Please tell me if you think I have a problem, and if I have, how serious is it? Thanks.

Don't tell me I am searching for my mother, because she died when I was a baby and you can't miss what you've never had.

LIKES THEM OLDER

DEAR LIKES: Yup. You have a problem. Your high school teacher gave you some good advice. You need professional help, and I suggest you get it. (P.S. And who said you can't miss what you've never had? It's possible to miss that the most.)

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago, I married a handsome, trim man with whom I'd been in love for three years. The first four years of our married life was wonderful. The last two have been something else.

He started to gain weight, and kept piling it on until now he looks like a barrel of lard. When I try to tell him it's unhealthy and unsightly, he gets angry and refuses to listen. He is so gross it makes me sick to look at him. I no longer want him to make love to me. He's repulsive.

Three weeks ago, I gave him a ultimatum. Either lose 50 pounds in the next six months, or I'm leaving. Apparently he didn't take me seriously because he's still drinking and eating like a herd of horses.

I'm not asking for advice. I want to go on record in your column, and I'll see that he reads it.

MEANS BUSINESS

DEAR MEANS: You're on record, but if you really love him, you'll help him. An ultimatum is no help. He needs a physical examination, a good diet program, and lots of love and moral support from you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANNAMARIE: One woman's leftovers can be another woman's banquet. Now is the time to talk turkey.

Today In History

Today is Friday, Nov. 29, the 333rd day of 1974. There are 32 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the monarchy was abolished in Yugoslavia.

On this date:

In 1760, the French surrendered Detroit to the British at the end of the French and Indian War.

In 1825, the first Italian opera presented in the United States, Rossini's "Barber of Seville," was performed in New York.

In 1899, the United States, Switzerland and France recognized the Republic of Brazil.

In 1922, archaeologists announced they had found fabulous treasure in the tomb of King Tutankhamen in Egypt.

In 1929, U.S. Navy Lt. Commander Richard Byrd radioed that he had made the first flight over the South Pole.

Ten years ago: Several hundred thousand Chinese demonstrated in Peking against American involvement in the Congo, calling it aggression.

Five years ago: Communist forces in South Vietnam eased up a four-week offensive in which nearly 400 South Vietnamese and 70 Americans were killed.

JOHN HALL

REV. MEL DIBBLE

Program planned

Noted speakers slated to lead Life Crusade

Evangelist Mel Dibble and singer John Hall will be leading the New Life Crusade with the First Baptist Church, 301 E. East St., Dec. 1-8, according to the Rev. Ralph F. Wolford, pastor.

Rev. Dibble is an outstanding musician and a theological graduate of Wheaton College and the seminary in Chicago. For several years he and his wife were involved in singing evangelism.

In 1950, he became involved in radio and television and was a star on the NBC-TV Network programs "Straw Hat Matinee" and "Breakfast Party."

During the period when Rev. Dibble was associated with NBC, he became acquainted with the Rev. Billy Graham and rededicated his life to Christ. On the early morning talk show, he announced he was leaving television to return to preaching. Rev. Dibble was associated with Rev. Graham for the New York City Crusade, in which he was in charge of the radio and television programs and was master of ceremonies for the telecast, "Impact."

During the week of Dec. 1-8, Rev. Dibble will be available for counseling and sharing his faith in Christ with small groups. Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. nightly.

Accompanying Rev. Dibble will be tenor soloist, composer and recording artist John Hall, who will direct the services' music program and will lead in the youth activities during the week.

Hall, 23, is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan, School of Music, and has graduate work to his credit. He has served on the voice faculty at Olivet College, Olivet, Mich., and has performed in professional opera with the "giants" of the Metropolitan. He has recently been requested to accompany the famed composer, John W. Peterson, as a featured soloist in concert tours throughout the United States.

The New Life Crusade will include, besides the nightly services, a Youth Dessert Supper, Sunday at 5:30 p.m.; a noon Women's Luncheon, Wednesday at 12 noon; a Men's Pancake Supper, Thursday at 6 p.m.; and special "Youth Scenes" Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 9 p.m. The public is invited.

Outsiders now church insiders

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — By a quirk of modern history, some struggling outsiders who received some highly controversial help from the world's churches now are becoming the established insiders.

That is the ironic turn-about of the coming into governing power of the black liberation movements in three African colonies long ruled by Portugal.

Recent events have "moved quickly to vindicate" the churches' efforts, says the Rev. Dr. John Coventry Smith, of Larchmont, N.Y., a United Presbyterian leader and one of the six-member presidium of the World Council of Churches.

It was that council, embracing 263 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches, which four years ago launched its program to combat racism, including grants for basic foods and medicines for the beleaguered liberation groups.

Program planned

A special pre-Christmas program will be held Sunday at 7 p.m. at the First Christian Church, 232 N. North St.

An auditorium Christmas tree will be decorated with Chrismons, which are monograms and symbols from Christian history referring to the life of Jesus Christ.

All the Chrismons were hand-made by the women of the church. Special music has been planned for the program. Refreshments will be served following the service and the public is invited to attend, according to the Rev. Don Baker.

Former NBC TV Star
A few years ago Mel Dibble had his own radio and TV programs in the mid-west. He was the star of "Straw Hat Matinee" and then "Breakfast Party." Then he met Billy Graham & rededicated his life to Christ. Mel became an evangelist on the Billy Graham team and was in charge of television for the New York Crusade. When you hear this famous and magnetic personality talk of his call from Christ and the message Christ has for all who do not know Him, you'll feel the Crusade was something you wouldn't have missed for the world. Bring a friend who needs the message of salvation.

Washington C. H. (O.) Record-Herald - Page 6

Class officers are named

The Young Adult Class of the New Holland United Methodist Church held its November meeting in the church basement. A potluck supper was enjoyed by 12 members and their children.

Mrs. Gary Kirkpatrick called the meeting to order with the reading, "Thanksgiving Prayer" and listed a few of the things which people take for granted, for which one should be thankful.

Mrs. Lynda Conrad read minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. Joyce Conrad gave a report of the annual turkey and ham supper and the sale of homemade noodles. It was also announced that reservations for the Lancaster Retreat in February have been confirmed.

Candy Cane Charity Ball is planned

The 11th annual Candy Cane Charity Ball, sponsored by the Women's Service Board of Grant Hospital, Columbus, will be held Dec. 14 in the Presidential Ballroom at the Neil House. Cocktails are at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 8 p.m., with dancing to follow. Tables for eight are available and all proceeds go to Coronary Care Unit and Intensive Care Unit Telementry, updating care of heart patients. Each telementry costs approximately $7,000 and the hospital needs eight. Costs for the party is $50 per couple and patron tickets $75 a couple. Contributions are gratefully accepted if persons cannot attend.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Frederick W. Eider Jr., 710 Havens Corner Rd., Gahanna. Telephone information number is 476-0748. The theme for the ball is "Diamond Jubilee" since this is the eve of the 7th year (1900-1975). Pink and silver are the colors. There will be a Gallery of Mementoes from the 75 years featuring items all sizes from the hospital history. The Johnny McCoy orchestra will play and Earl March will play for the cocktail hour. Sonya from the Neil House will play piano from midnight until 1 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smith were hosts for the meeting held at the church, and Mrs. Blair conducted the meeting by leading The Lord's Prayer. Devotions, presented by Mrs. Morgan, included Scriptures and readings pertaining to Thanksgiving. Mrs. Frederick gave the closing prayer.

Reports were heard and Mrs. Milbourne Flee reported for the nominating committee.

'Blue Jacket' DAR topic by Mrs. Rankin

The Daughters of the American Revolution Martha Washington Committee on Indian Affairs was held Monday evening in the home of Miss Helen Slavens.

Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, chairman, led the pledge of Allegiance and conducted the meeting. Reports were read and various projects discussed. It was announced by the chairman that two boxes of clothing had been sent, one each to the Kate Duncan Smith and Tamassee Mountain Schools.

Mrs. Cornwell introduced the speaker, Mrs. Richard Rankin, who gave a very interesting talk on "Blue Jacket, War Chief of the Shawnees."

Christmas gifts were brought to the meeting by the members to be sent to the Chiloco Indian School children.

Refreshments were served by Miss Slavens who was assisted by Mrs. William Lovell, Mrs. John Sager Sr. and Mrs. Byron Hinton.

OH TOPS 1265 announce new officers

TOPS OH Chaper 1265 was organized in early April, and the present officers are: Mrs. Jim Wilson, leader; Mrs. Allen O. McClung, co-leader; Mrs. Russell Liston, secretary; Mrs. Robert W. Fries, treasurer; and weight recorder, Mrs. Forest Williams.

Meetings are held each Monday evening at 7 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce office, with weigh-ins beginning at 6:30 p.m. Anyone desiring to lose weight sensibly is invited to attend the meetings, or become a member.

Division winners for November are Mrs. Roy Yahn and Mrs. Williams. Best loser for the month is Mrs. Kathleen Beatty and pre-teen princess Janie Maxie.

Benjamin Franklin is topic of Progress Club

Mrs. John Sheeley, president of the Progress Club, opened the meeting held in the home of Mrs. Russell Hall, with the poem, "Thanksgiving Mince Pie." Miss Helen Fults, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll, for the 14 present. Each answered by giving one of Benjamin Franklin's famous sayings.

Benjamin Franklin had many famous quotes, and was the topic of Mrs. Grace Lanum's report for the evening. Her report was taken from Thomas Fleming's book, "The Man Who Dared the Lightning" - a new look at Mr. Franklin.

When Franklin began his experiments, electricity was a curiosity in the world of science. Experimenters created 'electrical fire' by rubbing glass tubes with silk, then they stored the accumulated charges in Leyden jars.

In a series of classic experiments Franklin transformed electricity from a curiosity to a full-fledged branch of science. He discovered the existence of plus and minus charges and invented such terms as battery conductors and condenser.

These were but a few of his many accomplishments. At the age of 42, he had made enough money from his newspaper, The Pennsylvania Gazette, and from Poor Richard's Almanac, to retire from business and devote himself to science.

The meeting was closed with a poem very appropriate for the season, "Be Thankful." A dessert course was served during the social hour to the 14 members and Mrs. Eugene Avey, a welcomed guest.

DAR schedules Mrs. Wheat

'Religious education' is the topic Mrs. Gerald Wheat has chosen for the meeting of the Washington C.H. chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, when members meet in the home of Mrs. Ronald Cornwell on Monday, Dec. 2. Delegates to State and Continental Congress will be elected.

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Sidney Bloomer, Mrs. Laurence Garringer, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. Roger Rapp, Mrs. Lowell Miller, Mrs. Irvin Yeoman, Mrs. J.A. McCoy, Mrs. Vivian Crawford, Mrs. John Leland and Mrs. Virtus Kruse.

OH TOPS 669 plans party

OH TOPS 669 met in the Williamson Electric building and Mrs. Dale Dunn welcomed members and gave an interesting program on Dr. Soloman's Easy No Risk Diet.

The 'best loser of the week' was Mrs. Daniel Willis; 'star' of the week and officer was Mrs. Dunn. Division winners announced were Mrs. Homer Chaney, Mrs. James Williams and Mrs. Dunn. Mrs. Williams was also best monthly winner.

All were reminded of the Christmas party and gift exchange Dec. 17, at Jefferson Inn. All former members are cordially invited to attend and husbands may also attend.

When planning to have several holiday parties over a short period, such as a weekend, don't forget to explain this to your florist. He can give you tips on how to keep your floral arrangements looking bright and fresh for days, including watering techniques and storage temperatures for various types of flowers.

Surprising, what a little planning can do for a food bill. For example, include cold cuts and skinless franks — those meats too often typecast as "lunch" meats — in evening meals. Sausage products have no bone or fat to trim and little shrinkage so they provide more servings per pound than fresh meat. Use them in interesting ways, such as a salami quiche or a frankfurter minestrone. The family will never guess you're budgeting.

'Open house' planned in Pitzer home

'Open house' is planned from 2 until 4 p.m. Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pitzer, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, for their 25th wedding anniversary.

Open house will be held in the Pitzer home, with their children as hosts. They are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stout of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Johnson of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wilson of Springfield, and Douglas and Pamela at home.

All of their family and friends are cordially invited.

Piano pupils present Musicale

Piano pupils of Mrs. Frank Creamer, Washington-Waterloo Rd., entertained their parents and guests at an informal Musicale, Sunday afternoon. Participating in the program were: Mark Ford who played "Bike Hike" and "He"; Michelle Ford - "Skip To My Lou" and "The Harpsichord Player," Bach; Jennifer Slutz - "The Cuckoo" and "The Stepping Stones"; Peter Ford - "Playing Catch" and "A Fairy Ring"; Joe Carroll - "Journey By Train", and "On The Lagoon"; Wendy Hidy - "The Elf and The Fairy" and "Chimes Through The Mist"; Kari Clay - "Tarantella", a duet arrangement with Mrs. Creamer assisting; and a vocal trio consisting of Marilyn Creamer, Kari Clay, and Linda Hollingsworth who accompanied themselves on guitars. Their vocal number was "They'll Know We Are Christians By Our Love".

Guests presnt were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Slutz and sons Randy and Scot, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carroll and children, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hidy, Mrs. Jane Shoop, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Clay and daughter Kendra.

Punch and cookies were served from the dining table, which was covered with a yellow linen cloth. Crystal appointments and a large deep gold candle with fall flowers encircling it, completed the setting.

PERSONALS

Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Daugherty and family, 4922 St. Rt. 753SE, were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Fawcett and son Bradley of Richmond, Ind., and their son, Roger, who is also a weekend guest, from Pittsburgh, Pa.

New meat labeling program is pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government label watchers say consumers may be confused by "Danish Brand Ham" since they might believe the meat was imported from Denmark, but they think everybody knows "Moon Sausage" really does not come from outer space.

The Agriculture Department, therefore, wants to clarify what it calls "geographic labeling" of meat and poultry products. So under a proposed change in regulations now under study any product called "Danish Brand Ham" would be mislabeled unless it came from Denmark.

"Fanciful names, such as 'Moon Sausage,' would be permitted since the place of origin would not normally be confusing to the consumer," the department says.

A spokesman for the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, which is considering the tighter label requirements, said there was no record of "Moon Sausage" and that the term was dreamed up as an illustration.

"You could say the same about 'Mars Meatloaf' or 'Satellite Salami' since those also are fanciful," the spokesman said. "As far as I know no astronaut has gone into business up there yet."

Another label which would be banned under the proposal — open for public comment until Feb. 7 — would be "German Sausage" unless the product came from Germany.

Some country-name exceptions would be permitted, however, if "the geographical term is generally understood to identify a particular class or style of product, such as 'Mexican style' or 'Italian style'," the department said.

Also, there are some familiar products which are classified by geographical names under existing federal regulations, including "Bologna" and "Vienna' sausages. Officials say people know what those mean.

The familiar "Virginia ham" already is protected by federal regulation requiring a product so labeled to be actually produced in Virginia.

Holiday traffic deaths mount

The nation's Thanksgiving weekend traffic death toll reached 132 today.

Motorists were slowed by scattered snow from the southern Rockies to the Great Lakes region and upper Ohio Valley.

The National Safety Council estimated that from 525 to 625 persons might die in traffic accidents during the 78-hour period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday, local time.

Wittenberg professor raps Ford policy

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)— It's foohardy to try to combat runaway inflation and stagnating recession jointly, a Wittenberg University economics professor says, because the traditional remedies for one can only inflame the other.

The way out, according to Robert P. Schultz, is to concentrate on inflation, with everyone, from the federal government on down, accepting "a smaller slice of the pie."

Slice the peak off the price spiral, Schultz says, and the recession will take care of itself.

"Inflation is responsible for the downturn we are in," Schultz said.

"Sooner or later we have to get back to reality," he said. "Everybody has got to consume less of the wordly goods, but nobody wants to."

As demand rises, so do prices, but it's a condition that cannot continue forever, with unemployment being inevitable.

"We all have to take a smaller share of a smaller pie, including the government," Schultz said in an interview. "If the government isn't willing to use up less, it will spill off into more inflation."

Schultz said the economy's woes began two years ago, a result of "a confluence of a lot of things at the same time." A major factor was disastrous weather conditions.

"There were large cattle losses in the west and the beef shortage began to shape up at that time," he said.

"In the spring there were excessive rains that washed out crops and wiped out animals. In the spring of this year, along with the beginnings of the drought, there was heavy frost. And who could have predicted the situation in the Middle East would develop as it did?"

"Prices would have stayed up even if everything else stayed neutral," Schultz said. "Add government spending and it just goes through the roof."

Detectives eye Earl's accounts

LONDON (AP) — Detectives hunting for the Earl of Lucan, who is wanted for murder, have been granted permission by a magistrate to examine his bank accounts.

Lord Lucan, 39, disappeared three weeks ago shortly before the body of his children's nanny, Mrs. Sandra Rivett, was found trussed in a canvas bag at his wife's home. He is also sought for the attempted murder of his wife.

Detective Chief Superintendent Roy Ranson said he was not interested in the Earl's financial holdings.

Business news

Lafayette Inn formally opened

Jack Marti, 512 Columbus Ave,, who purchased the restaurant-bar Oct. 21, plans special grand opening activities Friday night. Two bands will be performing and two stereo units will be given away as door prizes.

Marti said the restaurant will open at 4 p.m. daily and dinners will be served from 5:30 to 11 p.m. weekdays and until midnight on the weekends. A new menu, including a number of flaming gourmet dishes, will be available for the first time during the grand opening.

He said he enjoys fine foods and will attempt to emphasize the restaurant portion of the business.

He and his wife, Rachel, have five children.

Elaborate Christmas display poses problem for police

BATH, Ohio (AP) — Much to the chagrin of local authorities, Dr. Dean Jones plans to resume his elaborate Christmas light display this year, saying he's doing it "strictly for the children."

The Akron dentist says he will erect the $20,000 display despite official protests that the city cannot afford to police the staggering traffic jam it creates.

Jones, who canceled last year's display because of the energy crisis, said he would shut down the display this season only if the coal miners' strike directly threatened Ohio Edison's ability to serve it customers.

"Halloween has been cut out, and unless someone tries to hold the line, five years from now everything else for children will be cut out, too," he said.

Jones has decided to light the display only four hours a day for 19 days instead of seven hours a day for 42 days, but officials of the Akron suburb say that isn't good enough.

"Even if you have 50 men down there and the road is still blocked, how would we ever get a fire truck or emergency vehicle in there?" asked Police Chief Robert Ferguson.

A newspaper story about the 48-year-old dentist's struggle with the authorities brought an overwhelming public response to Jones' Akron office.

"There were 50-60 calls the first day, all supporting the doctor," a receptionist said. "If anyone wants him to cancel the display this year, they didn't call here."

The light show is a 20-year-old dream come true for Jones. While going to dental school, he lived on a farm and added a string of Christmas lights to the family decorations each year. He vowed when he became a doctor he would not skimp on holiday spirit.

Four years ago he wove his first design out of chicken wire strung from the house to the swimming pool and from tree to tree over the acre-and-a-half lot. Across the wire he looped lines of tiny red, blue, yellow and green bulbs.

TVA bid for coal firm rapped

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A proposal by the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) to purchase the giant Peabody Coal Co. is generating heated reaction in Kentucky, Tennessee and Washington, D.C.

"This proposal is without precedent," says Kentucky Sen. Walter (Dee) Huddleston, in discussing the possibility of TVA, the nation's largest generator of electric power, purchasing the nation's largest private coal company.

"It's opening a lot of doors," says Huddleston. "I want it checked out ... all the ramifications of it, although I am not suggesting any wrongdoing."

Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton adds, "The prospect of TVA winding up with Peabody scares the heck out of me."

And Tennessee Sen. Howard Baker says the proposal "must not be treated routining," adding that he will ask for a congressional inquiry.

Also, Congressman-elect Carroll Hubbard, who will represent Kentucky's 1st Congressional District — the largest TVA market in the state — says he will look into the proposal as soon as he is "in a position to do so."

Not all reaction to the proposal has been skeptical.

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, Republican from the 5th District in Kentucky, said he supports the proposal. TVA supplies some of Carter's district with power and owns 40,200 acres of coal lands in the district.

Former U. S. Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee, now chairman of the board of Island Creek Coal Co., Lexington, said that his perspective regarding the proposal is complex.

He noted that in 20 years a congressman and senator from Tennessee he championed TVA and that he has never found fault ideologically with the TVA concept.

But now he heads a company that is TVA's biggest coal supplier (not counting TVA-owned coal mined by Peabody). And TVA is Island Creek's largest customer.

Gore said his first responsibility is to his stockholders.

"But I could not say that Island Creek opposes or will oppose this proposal. We will likely take no position at all.," he said.

This year Peabody will mine more than 70 million tons of coal in the 12 states in which it operates. It also has mining interests in Australia.

In Kentucky in 1973, Peabody mined 24,753,458 tons of coal and had a payroll of $46,099,525. It paid Kentucky taxes of $3,617,301. It has 11 mines in Western Kentucky and none in Eastern Kentucky.

In Indiana Peabody's tonnage last year was 12,316,135 and 1,151 employes were paid $16,409,768. The figures were provided by the company's main office in St. Louis.

In making his first formal statement on the proposed purchase last week, TVA Board Chairman Aubrey (Red) Wagner said that " problems of both supply and price in the present market" were causing TVA to propose the deal, reportedly in the billion-dollar range.

It takes from 30 to 40 gallons of sap to make one gallon of maple syrup.

AIRPORT NEWS

By SANDY WOODMANSEE

Traffic in these past few weeks have been several helicopters, one from Aerial Patrols Co., Canton. Howard Searcy, pilot, a Lear Jet from Indianapolis picked up freight, and a twin Beech from Millardair, Toronto, Canada made a safe emergency landing here last week after developing engine trouble. A twin Navajo Chieftan followed them in from Canada the next day to continue their flight.

Earl Webb, who is an accomplished aerobatic pilot, stopped in his Decathlon and gave John a ride showing him how to do loops, barrel rolls and snap rolls.

Mike Putnam received his Private Pilot's license and Art Beverly soloed on Nov. 6. Approximately sixteen pilots and friends enjoyed an evening of bowling at Bowland a couple of weeks ago.

Jack Patton is home for Thanksgiving and stopped in to say hi. Nice to see him again. He told us he has been accepted in his school's (St. Louis University) flying team and will be participating in the National Inter-Collegiate Flying Assoc. meets to be held at Santa Fe, New Mexico in the middle of April. That should be great fun and good for you, Jack!

ADMINISTRATRIX SALE
3 WASHINGTON C.H. PROPERTIES
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1974

SELL ON PREMISES 12:00 NOON; 12:30 P.M.; 1:00 P.M.

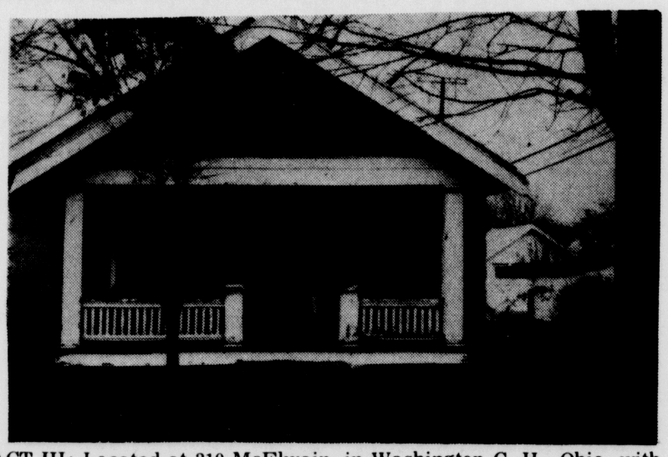

TRACT I: Located at 703 Broadway, Washington C. H., Ohio, with 88½' frontage and 125' depth in lot size.

This one floor plan, six room residence should be given a bit of study for an investment or home of your own. Forced air gas furnace. Full bath. Garage. Fenced in yard. Remember, there isn't too many for sale on Broadway for less than $10,000. Maybe you could use this as a starter. Appraised at $9,300 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

TRACT II: Located at 831 John Street, Washington C. H., Ohio, with 41¼' frontage and 112' in depth in lot size. At the corner of Flint Drive.

Such a one floor plan, frame residence as this, could be for the do-it-yourself people interested in an investment or home of their own property. Five rooms with full bath and gas floor furnace, is the basic arrangement inside, all of which needs revamping, in the way of decorating throughout. No garage. Appraised at $6,500 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

TRACT III: Located at 310 McElwain, in Washington C. H., Ohio, with 41¼' frontage and 140.85' in depth in lot size.

This five room, one floor plan, residence does have much to offer, especially in this location with the trees and garage (12'x18') on this handy size lot. Partial basement with furnace (not in working condition). Roof appears to be good, but does have small leak here and there. The 110 electric may need an inspection. The bathroom. . . .well, it needs some improvements. Appraised at $5,000 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

INSPECTION: Call selling agents, phone 335-2210.
POSSESSION: On passing of deed.
TERMS: 10 per cent down day of sale, and balance of purchase price upon delivery of deed, within 30 days for each tract.

Variety of charges aired in Muny Court

A Washington C.H. man was fined and sentenced on a charge of driving while intoxicated by acting Judge Omar Schwart and five persons were charged by state game protector Jerry F. Cremeans in Municipal Court Wednesday.

Judge Schwart fined Herman E. Payton, 23, of 217 East St., $200, sentenced him to three days in jail and suspended his driver's license for 30 days after he pleaded guilty to the DWI charge. He was fined $15 on an additional charge of failure to yield while making a left turn.

Anthony F. Casson, 21, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was fined $16 for speeding, Douglas C. Willis, 19, of 450 Rawlings St., was fined $20 on charges of possessing an expired driver's license and failure to stop for a stop sign, and Stephen L. Mustard, 20, Jeffersonville, forfeited $20 bond on a charge of failure to stop for a stop sign in other traffic cases Wednesday.

A Mount Sterling man forfeited $59 bond on a charge of illegally spotlighting rabbits, filed by game protector Jerry Cremeans. Thomas W. Powell Jr., 34, forfeited the bond for failure to appear in court on the charge of illegally spotlighting rabbits on Ohio 38 and Myers Road.

Raleigh E. Robinson, 20, Columbus, forfeited $25 bond on a charge of discharging a firearm on Deer Creek wildlife area where such use is prohibited and Webb L. Tracy, 52, Columbus, forfeited $34 bond on a charge of littering in the same wildlife area.

Two Washington C.H. men pleaded guilty before acting Judge Schwart to charges of trapping without proper name tags on the traps. Ronald Hurless, 30, of C and W Trailer Park, was fined $16 and Charles R. Bellaw, 18, also of C and W Trailer Park, was ordered to pay court costs on the charge.

In one nontraffic case heard Wednesday, Judge Schwart dismissed a disorderly conduct charge filed on a private warrant against Timmy D. Penwell, 18, of 724½ E. Paint St.

Seven holiday mishaps probed

An accident in which two autos were severely damaged and a Washington C.H. girl injured, occurred Thanksgiving evening, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported. Washington C.H. police officers investigated six accidents and charged two drivers with traffic violations.

SHERIFF

Cars driven by Michael H. Mallow, 16, of 1342 Dayton Ave., and Robert G. Osborne, 19, of 819 Lakeview Ave., collided at 6:45 p.m. Thursday, on Hutchinson-Yeoman Road, six-tenths of a mile south of the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road intersection.

Osborne's passenger, Debra S. Osborne, 18, of 819 Lakeview Ave., claimed injury from the mishap and was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where she was x-rayed for possible back and abdominal injuries and released.

Sheriff's deputies stated the mishap occurred when Mallow suddenly came upon Osborne's car, which was stopped over a hill without lights because he was having engine trouble.

Mallow hit his brakes, but only one caught, throwing his auto out of control and causing it to strike Osborne's car in the rear, knocking it into a ditch. Mallow's car also came to rest in the roadside ditch after traveling 54 feet beyond the point of impact. Neither driver was cited in the incident.

WEDNESDAY, 7:50 p.m. - Cars driven by Michale B. Maynard, 20, Westlake, and Beverly M. Goldschmidt, 20, Cincinnati, collided on I-71, one mile south of the Ohio 38 exit.

Damage to the Maynard auto was estimated as moderate and damage to the Goldschmidt auto was estimated as slight. No one was hurt or cited.

POLICE

THURSDAY, 10:30 a.m. - Cars driven by George D. Remy, 24, of 716½ Yeoman St., and Irene H. Wical, 25, of 206 W. Temple St., were involved in an accident when Remy pulled out of an alley onto S. North Street, in front of Ms. Wical's oncoming auto. He was charged with failure to yield right of way.

An auto belonging to Tim N. Hawk, 324 Gibbs Ave., was struck by an unidentified driver while parked on Gibbs Avenue near the Grace Street intersection, Thursday.

WEDNESDAY, 6:57 p.m. - The metal sliding door on a truck driven by Wayne D. Blankenship, 33, Ohio 729, fell and struck a car belonging to Daniel Exline parked in front of his 732 S. Fayette St. residence. The door struck Exline's tire and damaged his hubcap.

6:13 p.m. - A car driven by Paul B. Cummings, 55, of 1003 Washington Ave., backed into a car belonging to Linda S. Carmen, 21, Old Springfield Road, while it was parked at Robert's Drive-In, corner of E. Elm and S. Fayette streets. Damage was minor to both autos.

3:39 p.m. - Cars driven by Kathleen A. Merritt, 21, Sabina and Lawrence W. Moss, 66, of 628 Park Dr., were involved in an accident in the 1200 block of Willard Street, across from Washington Senior High School. Damage was moderate to the Merritt auto.

2:25 p.m. - Cars driven by Betty L. Dearth, 34, Ohio 41 and Clarabelle Rose, 47, of 1223 S. Hinde St., were involved in an accident in the 400 block of E. Court St. Ms. Dearth was cited by police for backing without safety.

B'burg PTO sets Christmas play

In the absence of Nina Luster, the treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Baker. She reported a balance of $2,203. Mrs. Baker suggested that the PTO, as in the past, distribute $25 to each teacher and classrooms and $150 toward playground equipment.

Suggestions were made for use of the carnival profits, including new stage curtains, carpet for principal Tom Levan's office, or a new mimeograph machine. A motion was also made to install coffee equipment for teachers in Levan's office. One other motion by Portia Cunningham suggested the PTO give tickets and financial aid for any future activities to students from the children's home.

Levan appealed for volunteers for a parents advisory committee to begin counseling with junior high students. He explained that at such a difficult age, junior high students would be able to receive help and advice with their special problems from the committee. He added that if the program succeeds, it may be expanded to encompass all levels of learning and expressed his beliefs that such a parents advisory committee would help to improve home and school relationships.

Tigers' Bowman selected first team

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two men who guided their teams into the Ohio high school football playoffs are among the Ohio Central District Coaches of the Year.

Pete Corey, the area Class AAA Coach of the Year, produced an unbeaten regular season of 10 victories, leading the Golden Bears to their first playoff berth.

Upper Arlington defeated New Philadelphia 27-7 in the state semifinals, but took a 41-8 beating from Warren Harding in the championship game.

J.D. Graham, the Central District's top Class A mentor, directed Newark Catholic to a 9-1 regular season mark. The Green Wave also made the playoffs, bowing to state champion Middletown Fenwick 34-6 in the semifinals.

Shay produced an 8-1-1 season and Watterson's ninth Central Catholic League crown in 11 years. Orth led Mifflin to an 8-2-0 campaign and runnerup spot in the Columbus City League to Class AAA Walnut Ridge.

Dallas, Denver win Thanksgiving games

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Steelers, with the eager aid of the Miami Dolphins and reluctant assistance of the Houston Oilers, could start clearing up a confusing National Football League playoff situation Sunday.

They got no help, thank you, from Dallas on Thanksgiving Day.

Pittsburgh, 8-2-1, can clinch the American Conference Central Division with a victory over Houston, 5-6, if the Dolphins beat Cincinnati Monday night.

That set of circumstances wouldn't eliminate Cincinnati from a wild-card spot, but it would cancel any slim mathematical hope the Oilers have of gaining the playoffs.

In the second of two Turkey Day games, Dallas was 28 seconds away from mathematical elimination from the playoffs when Clint Longley, who had never run an NFL regular-season play before, threw 50 yards to Drew Pearson for a touchdown, beating Washington 24-23.

The Cowboys have been in the playoffs for the past eight years, and could gain an unprecedented ninth if the Redskins, 8-4, lose a few more and Dallas, 7-5, wins a few more.

In the earlier Thanksgiving game, the Denver Broncos, 6-5-1, beat Detroit, 6-6 and now eliminated from the playoffs, 31-27. Denver's Otis Armstrong ran for a touchdown and 144 yards in the game to surpass the 1,000-yard mark.

In Pittsburgh's last game, Terry Bradshaw and Franco Harris combined with the NFC's stingiest defense to lead the Steelers to a 28-7 victory over New Orleans. Bradshaw threw for two touchdowns, ran for another and tentatively has regained his starting position from Terry Hanratty. Harris, with 114 yards against the Saints, now has 762 for the season and is shooting for his second 1,000-yard plus season.

Dan Pastorini — if he can keep off his back after being sacked seven times last week by Dallas — could give the Steeler defense trouble.

In other Sunday games, Baltimore, 2-9, is at Buffalo, 8-3; Kansas City, 4-7, meets the Cardinals, 9-2, at St. Louis; New England, 7-4, plays in Oakland, 9-2; Los Angeles, 8-3, is at Atlanta, 2-9; New Orleans, 4-7, faces Minnesota, 7-4; Green Bay, 6-5, is at Philadelphia, 4-7; the New York Jets, 4-7, host San Diego, 3-8; the New York Giants, 2-9, travel to Chicago, 3-8, and San Francisco, 4-7, is at Cleveland, 3-8.

The Dolphins, confounded this year by occasional lapses in their defensive secondary, will have to hore up against Cincinnati if they hope to stop the precision passing of Ken Anderson.

The Bills are tied with the Dolphins for first in the AFC East, and would put the pressure on Miami with a victory Sunday. Buffalo, led by O.J. Simpson's 937 yards, is a two-touchdown favorite.

With the Redskins' loss, the Cards can clinch the NFC East title by beating Kansas City. Jim Hart, whose 17 TD passes lead the NFC, could lead the Cards to their winningest season since 1960, while the Chiefs, who lost to Cincinnati last week, are assured of their first losing season since 1963.

Oakland had a nine-game winning streak broken last week by Denver and the Raiders need to regain momentum after clinching early in the AFC West. They will throw Ken Stabler against New England's Jim Plunket, who broke the interception jinx last week when he threw for 194 yards without a miscue in a 27-17 victory over Baltimore.

The Rams have clinched in the NFC West for the second consecutive year and are coming off an exciting 20-17 victory over Minnesota, while Atlanta's offense has foundered.

Minnesota, a game ahead of Green Bay in the NFC Central Divison, has lost its last two but could clinch if the Packers lose. Chuck Foreman has an NFL-leading 15 touchdowns this season, one away from the club record. The Saints' Archie Manning completed only two of 10 attempts for nine yards and three interceptions against Pittsburgh last week, and may yield to Bobby Scott for the Rams game.

The Packers have won their last three with a total of 73 points while giving up just 10, including a 34-0 shutout of the Chargers. Green Bay and Philadelphia both depend on former Ram quarterbacks — the Packers on John Hadl, the Eagles on Roman Gabriel.

Both New York teams have streaks going: the Jets have won three and the Giants have lost three.

The Jets go against a Charger team weak in offense, and Rich Caster will be a primary receiver for Namath, who found the tight end for two TDs last week.

Craig Morton has buoyed the offense of the Giants, who have been outscored by only nine total points in their past three games. Chicago finally got its first TD in 22 periods in a 34-17 loss to Detroit last week.

San Francisco quarterback Tom Owens is getting in the scoring habit, last week throwing to Gene Washington for two TDs in 27-0 victory over Atlanta, the 49ers second consecutive shutout. Cleveland quarterback Mike Phipps probably will start for Brian Sipe, who injured his hip last week in a 15-10 loss to Buffalo, the Browns' second straight.

Lions halt Pitt, 31-10

Penn State, ranked 10th, got the college football weekend off to an impressive start with a 31-10 rout of No. 18 Pitt Thanksgiving night.

Tom Shuman threw a pair of touchdown passes to Jim Easie and Chris Bahr added four field goals for the Nittany Lions.

This afternoon the excitement continued as Auburn faced the Alabama Crimson Tide, a second-ranked undefeated power hoping to complete its third perfect regular season in four years.

Auburn, 9-1, was given little chance of winning by the oddsmakers, who established Alabama, 10-0, a two-touchdown choice in the nationally televised encounter set for a 4:05 EST kickoff in Birmingham's Legion Field.

Today's schedule also included a Southwest Conference battle featuring No. 8 Texas A&M against No. 17 Texas in Austin. If the Aggies win, they will assure themselves of at least a share of the conference crown and a trip to the Cotton Bowl for the first time since 1967.

"This Auburn team is different than any I've ever had," says Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan of his seventh-ranked Tigers. "They're steady in the boat."

Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant says this may be "the best Auburn team we've ever played. They have more big capable athletes than any team in the (Southeastern) conference, maybe more than any team has ever had."

The SEC title is at stake. Auburn could tie for the title with a victory over the Tide, which has at least a share of its 13th conference title, including an unprecedented four straight.

Top-ranked Oklahoma, banned from a bowl appearance by the NCAA for recruiting violations, closes out its season Saturday at home against Oklahoma State, 6-4. The Sooners, 10-0, will be out to win impressively in order to secure their hold on the No. 1 ranking.

Indians best Shermans, 61-56

HILLSBORO — With all five starters fouling out, Unioto received a rude induction into the South Central Ohio League by dropping a 61-56 encounter at Hillsboro, Wednesday evening.

Tim Fuller and Mike Sharkey led the Indians' attack with 16 and 15 points, respectively. Greg Anderson topped the Shermans' scoring with 14.

Hillsboro held the Shermans' 6-foot-8 center Greg Alcorn, who was in foul trouble all evening, to just eight points. Kevin Bailey of the Indians, who was the leading scorer in the SCOL with a 20 point average last season, only collected five points.

Unioto will be hosting Southeastern on Saturday night. The Indians visit Leesburg next Tuesday.

Box score

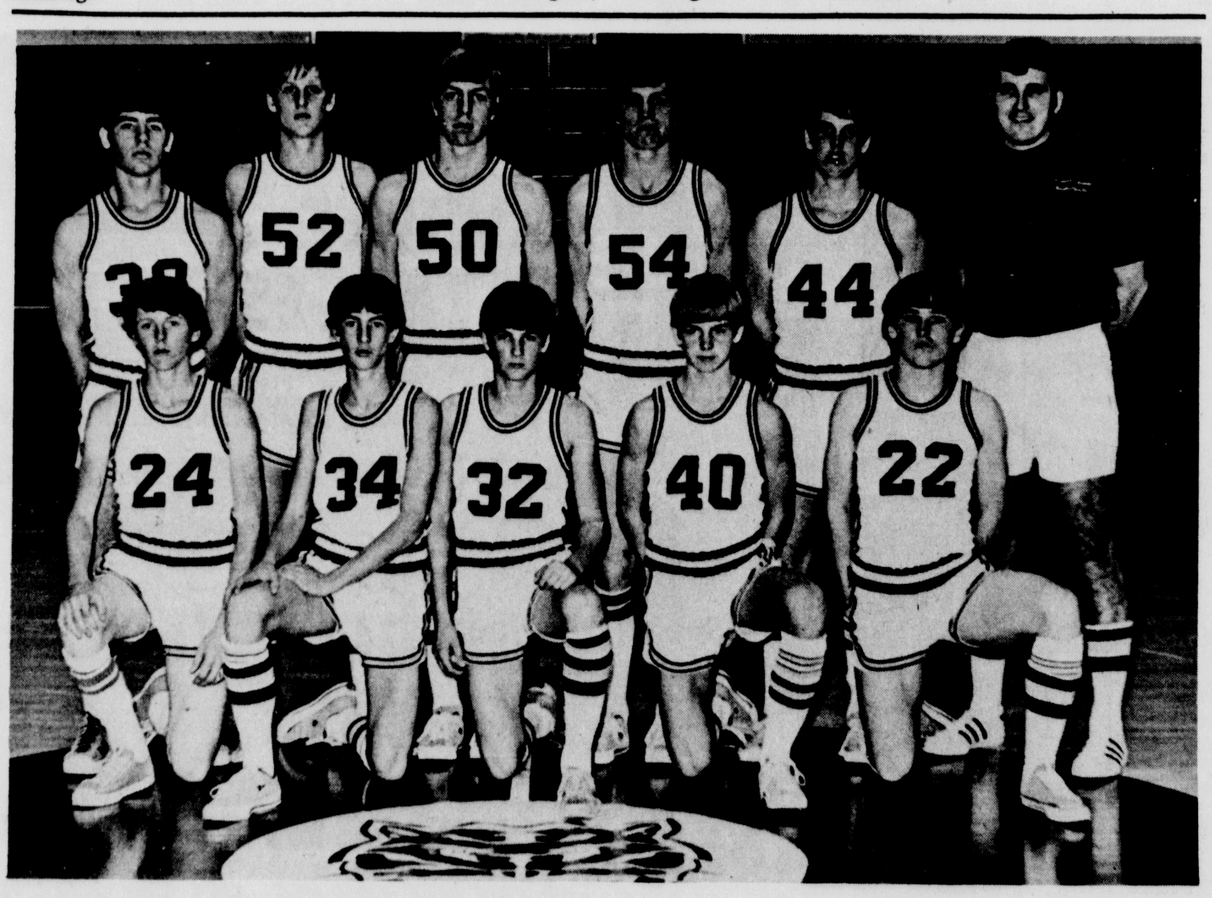

UNIOTO (56) — Throckmorton (4-1-9); Kerns (2-2-6); Alcorn (3-2-8); Frey (3-3-9); Anderson (6-2-14); Rutherford (1-0-2); Johnson (3-0-6); and Matson (1-0-2); Total (23-10-56).

HILLSBORO (61) — Zink (2-5-9); Bailey (2-1-5); Seeling (2-4-8); Jewett (3-0-6); Sharkey (6-3-15); M. Fuller (1-0-2); and T. Fuller (6-4-16); Total (22-17-61).

SCORING BY QUARTERS:

Hillsboro	16	16	19	10—61

Reserve Game: Hillsboro 43, Unioto 33.

Boosters slate two contests

Washington Basketball Boosters Club will be sponsoring two basketball games at the high school, Saturday evening. At 6:30, the Miami Trace faculty will clash with the faculty from Washington Court House. At 7:30, Washington varsity basketball team will play the alumni.

Steeler Sam Davis out with injury

Davis, who is offensive captain, sprained his left foot in Pittsburgh's 28-7 victory over New Orleans on Monday and has been unable to practice since.

Falcons, Hurons open Mid-American race

It's the earliest conference basketball game in history for the MAC, which has only five league contests during December. The Bowling Green-Eastern Michigan date is the lone November assignment.

Northern Illinois, a new member ineligible for the conference race, and Kent State get the jump on the rest of the 10-school league by playing tonight.

Other games Saturday have Ball State at Ohio State, Wabash at Miami of Ohio, Toledo at Michigan, Wisconsin-Green Bay at Western Michigan, Ohio University at Wisconsin and Steubenville at Kent State.

Bowling Green and Toledo, archrivals only 25 miles apart, are the conference championship favorites. The coaches tabbed Bowling Green and newsmen predicted Toledo would emerge as champion, replacing Ohio.

Bowling Green returns four regulars from its second-place team. However, 6-foot playmaker Jeff Montgomery is idled with a knee injury. Mark Cartwright, the starting 6-11½ center last season, has yielded his job to 6-7½ Andre Richardson.

"We'll try to run a lot more this year. I think we'll be better defensively, too," said Pat Haley, the Bowling Green coach.

Eastern Michigan enters the MAC basketball race for the first time with six newcomers, four of them transfers.

The Hurons' only regular from last season, 6-6 Talmadge Bell, likely will be on the bench against the Falcons.

Taylor hoping for bright year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State tries to rebound from its worst season in Coach Fred Taylor's 16 years, opening the current basketball campaign against visiting Ball State Saturday night.

The Buckeyes struggled to only nine victories in 24 games a year ago and Taylor said, "Aside from the record, it wasn't any fun either."

With six lettermen and three regulars returning, Taylor sees a brighter season this winter.

"We're a heckuva lot quicker, our ball handling is better and we're shooting more selectively," Taylor said.

"It's tough to believe this," added the Ohio State coach, "things have changed overnight. That's kind of exciting."

One holdover starter, 6-foot-7 forward Steve Wenner, likely will not play against Ball State, a new Mid-American Conference member.

The aggressive senior from Findlay, the Buckeyes' No. 1 rebounder last winter, sprained his wrist in practice this week and Taylor is leery to bring him back too soon.

In that case, 6-5 whirlwind junior Andy Stiegemeyer will pair at forward with 6-7 Bill Andreas, another 1973-74 regular. Craig Taylor, 6-10, much stronger with 23 additional pounds, will be in the pivot.

Larry Bolden, sensational as a freshman starter last year, has overcome an early practice illness and will open with 6-2 Terry Shields at guard.

Although his team was eighth in the conference a season ago, Taylor carries his usual optimistic air.

"We always think we can win the Big Ten. We will have to play up a storm to do it though," said Taylor, whose teams have won the conference title seven times.

Jim Holstein, a former University of Cincinnati star, begins his third season at Ball State without ace scorer Larry Bullington, among the national leaders with more than 25 points a game in 1973-74.

"We can't replace Bullington. We're not even going to try to," Holstein said.

The Cardinals, 14-12 last season, have three starters returning, 6-7 Larry Heinbaugh, 6-1 Bob Faulkner and 6-2 Shafer Suggs. A brilliant football defensive back, Suggs currently is Ball State's sixth man.

Twelve of Ohio's basketball-playing colleges are active tonight before 1974-75 season begins in full force Saturday night.

Kent State is the only major school busy both nights. The Flashes play at home against Mount Union tonight and Steubenville Saturday night.

The earliest Mid-American Conference game in history, title favorite Bowling Green at Eastern Michigan, adds spice to the 28-game Ohio car Saturday night.

Other key contests send Toledo to Michigan, Ohio University to Wisconsin, Wright State to Cincinnati, Berea to Xavier, Old Dominion to Dayton and Wabash to Miami.

Red Wings lose to Sabres

By The Associated Press

Detroit goalie Jim Rutherford, on the receiving end of 46 Buffalo shots, didn't have much to be thankful for Thursday night as the Red Wings absorbed a 5-2 National Hockey League beating at the hands of the red-hot Buffalo Sabres. Detroit, which has won only once in its last 15 games, managed only 19 shots on goal.

"We didn't give them much opposition," said Wings' Coach Alex Delvecchio. "This losing streak of ours is very frustrating and the future doesn't look very encouraging.

"We have jerseys but we don't have much ability in them."

The Detroit-Buffalo game was the only NHL contest Thursday night. In the World Hockey Association, Vancouver beat Toronto 6-2, Quebec downed Indianapolis 7-5, Houston blanked Edmonton 2-0 and Chicago shaded San Diego 3-2.

Test Your Defense

North
♠A J 8
♥10 9 6 3
♦8 4 2
♣7 6 4

East
♠K 7 4
♥A Q 8 5 2
♦J
♣J 9 3 2

The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	5 ♣	Pass

West leads the four of hearts which you win with the ace, South playing the seven. What would you play at trick two? (North's two spade bid was an ace-showing response to South's forcing two bid.)

* * *

Judging from the bidding, South has a hand that looks something like this:

♦A K Q 10 3
♣A K Q 10 8 5

The four diamond bid is the key to his distribution. He would not have bid the suit twice with less than five of them, nor would he have opened with two clubs rather than two diamonds unless he had more clubs than diamonds. It is therefore reasonable to assume that South has 6-5-1-1 distribution and defend the hand on that basis.

The proper play at trick two is a spade! To appreciate the power of this play, consider what happens if you return a heart instead. Declarer ruffs and starts to draw trumps by playing the ace at trick three.

With West showing out, South is in a commanding position to deal with your J-9-3-2. He leads a spade to the ace, takes a trump finesse, draws trumps and easily makes the rest.

If you lead a spade at trick two — whether the king, the seven or the four — you are almost certain to beat the slam. Declarer wins the spade with the ace and plays a trump to the ace, which is surely the normal thing to do. Too late he learns of the 4-0 trump division and goes down as a result of your far-sighted play at trick two.

That statute does not provide for hearing requests to the OEPA on applications, revocations, modifications, complaints, verified complaints, certifications, leases, orders, or final actions.

Within 30 days of publication of this notice any person may also: (1) Submit written comments relating to actions, proposed actions, complaints, or verified complaints; (2) Request a public meeting regarding proposed actions; and - or (3) Request notice of further actions on proceedings. Requests for hearings on final actions to issue, deny, modify, revoke or renew permits, licenses or variances that are not preceded by proposed actions and so identified in this notice should be sent to the Environmental Board of Review, Suite 505, 33 North High Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215. All other requests for adjudication hearings, and other communications concerning public hearings, public meetings, adjudication hearings, complaints of any kind, and regulations should be addressed to the Legal Records Section, Ohio EPA, P. O. Box 1049, Columbus, Ohio, 43216, (614) 466-6037.

Unless otherwise stated in particular notices, all other communications, including comments on proposed actions and requests for public meetings, should be addressed either to the new source, air, or NPDES Permit Records Section, whichever is appropriate, at the Ohio EPA, P. O. Box 1049, Columbus, Ohio 43216.

IN THE COMMON PLEAS COURT OF FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO

David Six, Trustee under the Will of Einar Jensen, Deceased, 8 Heritage Court, Washington C.H., Ohio, Plaintiff, vs. William Bass, Deceased, and His Unknown Heirs, Executors, Administrators and Assigns, et al., Defendants.
No. Ci 74-252
LEGAL NOTICE

TO: The Trustees of the Church of God in Christ, William and Sadie Ricketts, L. & N. Enterprises, Ltd., an Ohio Partnership, City of Washington, Virgil Simmons, Arthur and Leona Terry, the Unknown heirs, executors, administrators and assigns of William Bass, Deceased and C.A. Beck, Deceased and all other Unknown and interested Persons, their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns.

You will take notice that David Six, Trustee under the Will of Einar Jensen, Deceased, has filed an action in the Common Pleas Court of Fayette County, Ohio, demanding an order of the Court to quiet title to the following described real estate:

TRACT ONE: The following described real estate situated in Military Survey 6696, City of Washington, Fayette County, Ohio and is all of the 0.98 acre tract conveyed to David C. Six, Trustee, as described in Deed Book 120, Page 126, all of Lots 593 and 596 of C.O. Steven's Addition as recorded in Plat Book "A", Page 227, and a portion of Walnut Street as vacated in Plat Book 3, Page 18, Fayette County Recorder's Office:

Beginning at an iron pin in the south line of Gregg Street (66 feet wide), said point bears S. 49 degrees 49' 30" W. as measured along the line of Gregg Street a distance of 82.50 feet from the west line of Lewis Street (66 feet wide); thence S. 39 degrees 53' 30" E. along a line parallel to the line of Lewis Street, passing an iron pin at the most northerly corner of said Lot 593 at 24.73 feet, a distance of 165.00 feet to a utility pole at the southeast corner of said Lot 593 in the north line of an Alley (16.50 feet wide); thence S. 49 degrees 49' 30" W. along the north line of said Alley and south line of said Lot 593 a distance of 82.50 feet to an iron pin at the southwest corner of said Lot 593 and corner to another Alley (16.50 feet wide); thence N. 39 degrees 53' 30" W. along the west line of said Lot 593 and line of said Alley a distance of 45.14 feet to an iron pin at the northwest corner of said Lot 593 and northerly terminus of said Alley; thence S. 0 degrees 55' 15" W. along the northerly line of said Alley a distance of 25.25 feet to an iron pin at the north corner of said Lot 596; thence S. 39 degrees 53' 30" E. along the east line of said Lot 596 and west line of said Alley a distance of 26.11 feet to an iron pin at the southeast corner of said Lot 596 and corner to the first mentioned Alley; thence S. 49 degrees 49' 30" W. along the south line of said Lot 596 a distance of 22.64 feet to the southwest corner of said Lot 596 and westerly terminus of said Alley; thence S. 0 degrees 55' 15" W. along the westerly terminus of said Alley a distance of 21.89 feet to the northwest corner of Lot 595 of said Steven's Addition; thence S. 49 degrees 49' 30" W. along a line parallel to the line of Gregg Street a distance of 94.62 feet to an iron pin; thence N. 87 degrees 11' 35" W. along the most southerly line of said 0.98 acre tract a distance of 24.20 feet to an iron pin; thence S. 49 degrees 49' 30" W., passing the east line of vacated Walnut Street at 15.65 feet, a distance of 48.65 feet to an iron pin in the centerline of vacated Walnut Street (66 feet wide); thence N. 39 degrees 53' 30" W. along the centerline of vacated Walnut Street a distance of 45.14 feet to an iron pin at the northerly terminus of said Walnut Street; thence N. 87 degrees 11' 35" W. along the northerly terminus of said Walnut Street a distance of 44.90 feet to an iron pin in the west line of said Walnut Street and east line of Lot 600 of M.A. Melvin's Addition (Plat Book "A", Page 383); thence N. 39 degrees 53' 30" W. along the east line of said Lot 600 a distance of 89.25 feet to an iron pin in the south line of Gregg Street; thence N. 49 degrees 49' 30" E. along the south line of Gregg Street a distance of 330.00 feet to the place of beginning, containing 1.233 acres.

Crusier purchase tabled

Council OKs revamping of city traffic code

An emergency ordinance designed to revamp the city's traffic ordinances was unanimously approved by Washington C.H. City Council members Wednesday night.

In addition to approving the legislation dealing with recodification of the city's traffic code, City Council members again tabled action on the purchase of new cruisers for the Washington C.H. Police Department and renewed an agreement with the Fayette County Board of Commissioners for housing prisoners in the county jail facilities. Council member Hugh S. (Bud)Patton was absent.

City Manager Dan Wolford reported to Council that a revised traffic code will become effective Jan. 1 in Ohio and that it will be necessary for the city's traffic ordinances to be completely revamped to conform with the new state code.

The city would stand to lose all fines imposed by the Municipal Court here and collect only the court costs from traffic offenders after Jan. 1 if the city's ordinances are not revamped. Wolford said if the ordinances were not revamped, traffic offenders would be charged under state statutes instead of local ordinances.

Council authorized the city manager to enter into a contract with the Walter H. Drane Co., of Cleveland, to revamp the ordinances at a total cost of $1,825.

The Cleveland firm handled the original recodification of all city ordinances, including the new criminal code which became effective last January.

Wolford explained 55 sections (200 ordinances) of the city's present traffic code need to be amended to conform with the state code.

AN ORDINANCE determining the best bid and authorizing the city manager to purchase new police cruisers was again tabled by Council members.

Because of a financial squeeze presently hampering city government operations, Council members again agreed to table the police cruiser purchase and reconsider it in early January.

The city has received two bids for the three new cruisers. Carroll Halliday, Inc., submitted a bid of $13,647 for the three 1975 models. The low bid was submitted by Ron Farmer's Auto Supermarket at a total price $13,482.

It was again pointed out that the bid submitted by Ron Farmer's Auto Supermarket did not meet specifications.

Police Chief Rodman Scott said Farmer's original bid did not meet specifications and a written agreement was submitted at a later date, but exceeded the requirements. The city had requested a 375 cubic inch engine with 195 horsepower.

Wolford said he believed Council was under an obligation to either accept one of the bids or reject both since the bids were submitted Nov. 6, however the matter was tabled until a later date.

A CONTRACT with the Fayette County Board of Commissioners for housing prisoners in the county jail was renewed. However, the cost to the city for housing the prisoners has increased by 100 per cent over last year.

Under the new contract, the city will be charged $6 per day per prisoner. Last year's cost was $3 per day.

Persons charged by city police and sentenced to extended confinement are housed in the county jail along with all female prisoners.

Wolford and Scott pointed out that the new $6 fee is not outrageous since Cincinnati and Columbus charge $9 per day for prisoners confined in workhouses. The decision on where to confine prisoners is made by the courts.

G-K set to open new funeral home

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Outside the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home on Washington Avenue, with all semblance of an 18th century English castle, it would not be difficult to imagine seeing a beautiful young girl with long, flowing curls clinging to an open window in anticipation of her Prince Charming.

But inside the cold, solid stone wall, a large grandfather clock in the foyer ticks loudly away the hours of time over the solemn hush of the 14-room mansion-turned funeral home by proprietor Ned Kinzer to quickly dispel any former apparition.

THE WELL-BUILT structure was originally constructed in the four year period from 1897 to 1901 for the Marchant family. It was later occupied by the Craig family before being purchased by the Howard Osbornes for use as a tourist home.

Kinzer, who had been operating the well-known Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home at 224 N. Main St., under much smaller quarters, purchased the dwelling from the Osbornes about six months ago, which has since been undergoing complete remodeling from top to bottom.

With the grand opening this weekend, Kinzer will be unveiling no doubt one of the most thorough and demanding remodeling enterprises undergone in this city for some time. At 3 p.m. Sunday, clergymen from all faiths, under the direction of the Rev. Gerald Wheat, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will conduct a dedication service for the funeral home chapel.

Through consultation with Bob Whitaker, general superintendent of the Great Oaks Construction Co., the firm which handled the construction, Kinzer and his wife Martha, selected patterns, furniture and designs for revamping every room in the mansion, from the living quarters in the upper level, the chapel and visitation areas on the first floor and the showroom, morgue and office in the basement — besides the addition of the stone frontage, porchway and parking lot to the exterior.

Kinzer is especially proud of the chapel and 450-pound lift installed in the funeral home. The chapel on the south side of the building can seat 180 people in the cozy and air-conditioned

ANGEL OF GRACE — One of two identical stained glass windows located in the front of the Gerstner-Kinzer chapel reflects the light from the sun into brilliant shades of blues, reds and yellows.

GERSTNER-KINZER CHAPEL — The chapel, which is situated on the south side of the funeral home overlooking Washington and Columbus avenues, can seat 180 people in its cushioned pews. A four-way public address system enables clear reception of sounds from the pulpit, piano, organ and singers during the services.

BRASS FIXTURES — The old Marchant family mansion was completely equipped with brass light fixtures such as this, operated on gas fuel. Ned Kinzer has decided to retain the original fixtures but convert them to electricity for safety precautions.

Included in the chapel besides the carpeting, burlap-upholstered pews, decorative black railing and marble-inlaid shelving for flowers, are two, stained glass windows of facing angels behind the pulpit, overlooking Columbus Avenue. A four-microphone public address system has also been installed for transmitting sound from the singers, organ, piano and ministers separately during the service and adjustable lights may be used to regulate light intensity.

A 450-pound lift has been erected off to the side of the chapel from the morgue below for easier handling of heavy caskets, especially the 250-pound solid oak coffins. The lift may be operated from levers at either location. Restrooms and fire exit are situated to the rear of the chapel.

Also on the first level are four rooms for visitation and calling hour services. One large, two medium and a very small visitation room are available for various sized services and assemblages. All are decorated with velvet wallpapering, full carpeting, original oak framework and ceiling beams, fireplaces and brass light fixtures, most of which have been converted from gas to electric fuel. One visitation room features built-in bookcases and cabinets with leaded glass panes. All the downstairs rooms may be set off by closing sliding, double doors of solid oak.

A small pantry has been turned into an office and is equipped with a two-way radio system to communicate with the ambulance service. Just beyond the pantry wall, overlooking the entrance way, is a large copper chandelier, which has also been passed on with the near century-old mansion. To the rear on the first floor is a back porch, altered to provide an area for storage and receiving flowers. A large walk-in ice box on the porch is now a storage vault where rows of kleenex boxes await their need.

The basement has been converted into a morgue, showroom and office retreat for Kinzer. The morgue, or preparation room, is equipped with the most modern cleaning facilities and storage space. The majority of the basement area serves as a showroom of the various size, makes and construction of caskets. The showroom can display 20 coffins at one time for viewing, Kinzer said. His small, informal office to one side of the showroom is conveniently located for business with the family of the deceased.

KINZER SAID the remodeling has resulted in a systematic and functional arrangement for the funeral home with the showroom inside the funeral home itself and equipped with the lift for easier handling, something greatly lacking at the Main Street location.

The exterior of the mansion has undergone extensive remodeling with the addition of the hand-cut and laid stone front, "castle" wall, constructed by Carl and George Ruzicka of Columbus, which matches the original stone of the house. A 40-foot radio antenna and large cross are also to be erected on the Washington Avenue site.

An added, special attraction at the funeral home, said Kinzer, will be the flying of the flag that draped the casket of his father, Ned Sr. The flag has remained folded since his funeral on Feb. 10, 1967.

WE ARE PROUD TO HAVE DONE THE LANDSCAPING FOR THE NEW GERSTNER- KINZER FUNERAL HOME.

THE OLD AND THE NEW — A distinct contrast is made when the newly-papered wall covering of velvety texture backgrounds the old light fixtures of the Marchant dwelling with its original gas regulators and shades still intact.

COPPER CHANDELIER — An interesting conversation piece in the front entrance to the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home is this large, solid copper chandelier, which has remained in the mansion since its completion even though several owners have come and gone.

Funeral directing more than just a job to Ned Kinzer

NED KINZER

In all appearance Ned Kinzer is just a simple, wisp of a man—a product of his native, rural Fayette County environment. He speaks slowly and cautiously, with each word carefully selected and weighed before its utterance. Yet seated in his basement office at the newly-completed Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home where he feels most comfortable, Ned Kinzer comes alive to retell with pride and vivacity of the only life he knows — that of an embalmer.

As sole director of the reputable Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, established by the late John and Selby Gerstner at 224 N. Main St., in 1945, Kinzer now boasts of over 20 years experience in an undying business, to excuse the expression. As one of only three funeral homes in Washington C. H., Kinzer services between 128 and 130 bodies per year. He has bought the right to maintain the Gerstner-Kinzer name for 15 years because of its establishment within the community.

To Kinzer, being a funeral director and embalmer is more than a profession, it is an art. Just as a sculptor takes hours and hours to mold a crude clod of clay into a beautiful, flawless piece of art, so an embalmer also utilizes many manhours in order to determine the exact amount and consistency of fluid to be administered in a body to produce the most natural-looking composition and makeup.

"Embalmers are more professional now than ever before and take great pride in their work," Kinzer said. "Sometimes it is pathetic what you start with, especially some cancer victims when even the skin shrinks, but often the results are remarkable." Although in his business, Kinzer is not known to be overloaded with compliments, he does strive for self-satisfaction in his work.

Kinzer explained how an early childhood experience with a death in the family, back when funeral services were generally held in the home, had pinched a nerve of curiosity and prodded him into seeking employment which would eventually gear him toward a lifetime career.

"When I was very small, I remember my uncle died and he was placed in the front room for the service. Being young and nosey, I went to look and this must have touched off my curiosity," he said.

While still in Washington High School, Kinzer worked part-time as an assistant in the old Hook Funeral Home. Following graduation, he served a two-year apprenticeship before graduating from the Cincinnati Embalming College in 1949 and becoming associated with the Gerstners.

Kinzer reflected on the differences in viewing and reacting to death today as experienced by people in contrast to the period when the dead were brought to the homes for observance and reverence. "People were much closer to death then," he said. "They were more often exposed to the gradual deterioration of health in their loved ones and were more readily able to accept death. That isn't so now, though, with so many people who are sick dying in either hospitals or nursing homes away from their families.

"People seemed to have taken life more seriously then when they were closer to death," he continued. Preoccupation in daily routines and the modest exposure to death because of people living much longer lives today were cited as primary factors in the modern reactions to death.

Kinzer also revealed how his own feelings toward life and mortality have been altered through his day-to-day association with death. "You really can appreciate living for what it is and strive to make use of it to the fullest degree," he said. "So many are afraid of death and yet, to me, it's not them they should be worrying about but the ones living."

More and more, people are requesting that their family or loved ones be cremated rather than buried due to overcrowded cemeteries, said Kinzer, although he has no facilities for cremation purposes in his funeral home. Kinzer added, however, that he does obey such requests by preparing the body for viewing and then transferring it to Columbus where there are cremation apparatuses. He said he had considered installing such equipment with the move and remodeling of the new funeral home but that "torch chambers" generally run around $37,000.

"To be a funeral director, you must be sympathetic to people," Kinzer observed. In such time of grief, funeral directors find that they must serve first as an understanding friend before businessman, Kinzer pointed out.

He is assisted in his business by two attendants, his wife Martha, who handles all bookkeeping and acts as "all-round assistant" in the preparation room, and their daughter Kim, a junior at Washington Senior High School, who also helps with the office work.

In explaining the procedure involved in making arrangements for a funeral, Kinzer said it generally requires on the average of three days from the occurrence of death to the final interment. The first step is to obtain the body as quickly as possible after the moment of death and remove it to the funeral home. The most important requirement at this stage is to be "neat, clean and proper," said Kinzer.

Once the death certificate has been signed by either the coroner or a licensed physician, the body is taken to the preparation room (or morgue) for embalming, where there is no admittance except for attendants and physicians. The embalming process takes approximately six to eight hours.

The funeral director then meets with the family (usually the next morning) to discuss media notices of death, selection of the casket, cemetery, flowers and services. Next to Kinzer's office in the basement of the funeral home is the showroom where he can conveniently display 20 caskets at one time for selection in all price brackets. Coffins may be of many types including either solid oak, steel, solid copper, octagon cloth and full or half-couch.

The average expense of a funeral service may run normally between $1,200 and $1,300, depending on the type of casket selected and the extent of the service, Kinzer said.

Every funeral home is inspected without notice by the Ohio Funeral Directors Association, who check to make sure there is a fan equipped in the morgue room, that the instruments, sinks and tables are clean and that the directors are qualified to operate the funeral business.

"It's just a very hard business to explain," Kinzer noted. "Every case is different and must be treated in its own respect."
